THE GOLD CRASH.

Less Confidence on the Street—The New York Press on the Situation—Injunctions and Counter Injunctions—Deserted Appearance of the Gold Room—Smoke of the Battle Blowing Away.

By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, October 1, 1869.

The prevailing feeling on the street this afternoon is one of rather less confidence than this morning. All kinds of stocks have been lower from a variety of causes, but principally because outside parties, who bought yesterday and this morning of different stocks, made up their minds to sell and realize their profits, returnable until Monday. The affairs of Lockwood & Co. are being generally canvassed on the street. The actual condition of the firm cannot be known for some time, but from the enormous magnitude of their tradsactions, and the fearful sacrifice they made in their almost frantic endeavors to keep themselves from failing, their condition, it is feared, is really worse than has been imagined. They are said to have paid one million in gold difference alone, and they were bulls in Pacific Mail Stock at from 120 down to 60. The effect of these transactions must have been most disastrous. The street was filled with rumors this morning in regard to the loss of the Lake Shore or Michigan Southern Companies by the late panic. It is also reported that the Lake Shore Company, in order to stop the building of the Akron branch road, bought 15,000 shares of the Toledo and Wabash at 85, and paid for it, and they further contracted to receive 15,000 shares more on October 18th, on which a deposit of 30 per cent. was put up.

The Commercial says that the investigations to-day makes it probable that the amount owing by Lockwood & Co. to the Lake Shore Company, will be near $1,500,000. No formal meeting of the Directors of the Lake Shore Company has been held to-day. Some opposition is offered to Mr. Banker being the successor of Mr. Lockwood by the Directors recently arrived in the city.

The Express has a report that Mr. Banker has been tendered the Treasurership, and declined, but it seems improbable. An informal conference was held to-day, however, and four members were delegated to wait on Mr. Lockwood and ascertain whether what funds belonging to the company has been involved in his failure.

The Post says: According to report he, as Treasurer, held before the suspension of his house, $620,000 in cash belonging to the Company, and the prodeeds of the sale of $1,075,000 par value of the stock of the Company, which, according to rumor, he sold at 84.

It is reported that Commodore Vanderbilt has effected a loan of $10,000,000 with Barring Bros, giving Hudson stock at par as collateral, and that one half of the sum will be used to purchase the 70,000 shares of Lake Shore.

The propriety of establishing a new clearing house is being discussed in the Gold Room. The plan proposed is to clear all the gold at a given price. No action has yet been taken, but the proposition is seriously talked of.

Many millions of gold on Friday's contracts were settled to-day, and the end of this complicated affair seems to be drawing to a close. It may, however, take some days to clear up the wreck.

There were some injunctions, and counter-injunctions, to-day.

The Gold Room presented a deserted appearance this afternoon, owing to the brokers being busily engaged in their offices, or making settlements around the street.

The President of the Gold Room received the following notice from the Gold Exchange Bank.

New York Gold Exchange Bank, October 1st 1869:—To Townsend Cox, Esq. Sir: I am directed to notify every dealer with this Bank to send into the Bank a full and complete account of claims of every item specified to verify those claims. Rhis should be done at once. Respectfully, H. N. BENEDICT, President

Late in the day the following additional notice was sent to dealers with the Gold Exchange Bank:

New York Gold Exchange Bank, Oct. 1, 1869.—Dealers with the Gold Exchange Bank will please send in at once their statements of Friday morning, amended on the basis of striking out from their statements the nine names advertised as rejected on September 27. The names are as follows: Albert Speyers, Dorwin & Babcock, Galway, Hunter & Co., Wm. Belden & Co., Zerega & Graves. Chase, McClure & Co., P. H Williams, Jr. & Co., Charles W. Keep & Co., James Brown & Co.

CHAS. H. WOOD,
Vice President.

The State Superintendent of the Banking Department is understood to express his opinion that when the statements are all in the Bank will be in such a condition as to be released from the receivership, If this be true, then many brokers will be able to meet their liabilities and resume business. It is reported that Smith, Gould and Martin will be forced into bankruptcy by their creditors.

TERRIBLE DISASTER.

Gala Day Closed in Sorrow—Frightful Accident—Amid Thousands at the Indiana State Fair a Steam Boiler Explodes—Twenty Persons Instantly Killed and over One Hundred Seriously Injured—List of Killed and Wounded—Narrow Escape of Governor Baker—An Infant Killed in its Father's Arms—Harrowing Details—A City Shrouded in Gloom.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

INDIANAPOLIS, October 1.—A terrible accident occurred at the State Fair this evening. The boiler of Sinker & Co., of this city, exploded a few minutes before four o'clock. There was an immense crowd on the ground at the time of the accident, and it is difficult to get the particulars. It is known however, that twelve persons were instantly killed, and the number of wounded will probably reach one hundred.

LATER.

The accident at the Fair Ground this afternoon is the most heartrending that has ever occurred in this vicinity and has cast a gloom over the entire city.

The explosion occurred a few minutes before four o'clock, when the grounds were crowded with visitors.

The boiler was attached to a saw mill of Messrs. Sinker & Co., of this city, and had just been fired up for a test of speed with another sawing machine. Arrangements were made to take it up as soon as the trial was over.

So far as can be ascertained to-night, there were nineteen persons killed.

The excitement and confusion is so great to night that it is difficult to obtain a correct list of the wounded, but it is thought the number will reach nearly one hundred. The following are among the killed.

P. L. Davis, of Indianapolis, A. M. Beuto, of Ft. Wayne, Ind; John Goulding, of Indianapolis; Daniel Long, Fayetteville, Ind: Lewis Wilson, Indianapolis; Mr. Rosster, Indianapolis; Ruell Beverley, Paragon, Indiana; L. B. McVey, student, of Ashbury University, Green Castle; John Wilson, Indianapolis; Mr. Jackson, Memphis, Ind.; Peter Kreitzer, Indianapolis; a lady, name unknown, and a little girl seven or eight years old; and five men, names unknown.

Most of the dead were removed to W. W. Weaver's undertaker's office, where an inquest will probably be held to-morrow. Many of the bodies are horribly mutilated and burned, and in some cases, so that it will be almost impossible for their friends to recognize them.

Many of the most severely wounded were conveyed to the Indiana Surgical Institution, the proprietors of which, as soon as they heard of the accident, tendered the use of the Institute for the use of the wounded, and have been untiring in their efforts to alleviate their sufferings. The following is a partial list of the wounded:

H. B. Cox, Randolph county, Indiana, slightly injured; J. B. Legs, Wabash county, Ind., slightly injured; Gideon Marts, Cicero, Ind., leg broken and injured in the head; Henry Coleman, badly cut in the head; J. A. McVey, dangerously wounded internally; John White, injured severely in the head; William Pearson, Danville, Indiana, very badly wounded; Nathan Arbison, Plainfield, Ind., severely injured; Gilman Sloan, Indianapolis, leg fractured and severly injured internally; Mrs. Caraline Weaver, Hamilton county, Ind., arm fractured and otherwise seriously injured; Mrs. Sarah Williams, Johnson county, injured in the back; N. R. Evans, leg broken and injured in the head; Isaac Long and sister, of Fayetteville, Indiana, both badly injured. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and daughter, of Indianapolis, all seriously wounded; Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Sinker, of Indianapolis, both seriously, but not dangerously wounded; Mrs. Staley and daughter, of Indianapolis, seriously wounded; Dr. Keightly, of Green Castle, has since died.

A little babe was killed in its father's arms, the father escaping without injury.

Gov. Baker was on the ground at the time of the explosion. A portion of the boiler passed over his head and struck his coachman a few feet in his rear, injuring him severely.

STILL LATER.

The scene at the Fair ground after the accident was most heart-rending. Many of the killed were torn in fragments. One family, a mother and three children, the mother was killed and the two older children badly scalded,—the youngest unhurt. A gentleman and lady were walking together, the gentleman was killed, and the lady escaped unhurt.

Everything is being done to aleviate the sufferings of the wounded that can be done. It is thougnt several more of the injured will die. The receipts of the Fair to-morrow will be given for the benefit of the wounded. The following additional killed and wounded are reported:

Wm. Dunning, Indianapolis, formerly of Rochester, N. Y., killed; John Kennedy, Indianapolis, killed; Mrs. Bullock, Shelby county, Geo. Wright. St. Paul, Ind., and Lucinna H. Smith, Indianapolis, badly wounded; Mr. Loring, Franklin, Ind., badly scalded and arm broken.

IRON AND STEEL MEN.

The published report that the delegation of iron and steel manufacturers now here, representing the iron men of Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey, came here for the purpose of obtaining recommendations from the Secretary of the Treasury for a revision of the tariff on the manufacture of iron, is untrue. These men do not desire an increase of tariff, nor any evasion thereof. They have been asking an increase for several years, but they are now convinced that if the present tariff is collected, it will be quite sufficient for their protection. They complain of the frauds which have been practiced by importers in the matters of undervaluation. This is done by placing a less value on the articles imported than they were worth, and thus defrauding the Customs, and injuring the home producers. A delegation of importers will arrive here in a day or two, in opposition to the interest represented by the gentlemen already here. They claim that it is a mere matter of the interpretation of the law.

TENNESSEE U. S. SENATOR.

Private advices from Tennessee indicate that an effort will be made to place ex-Senator A. O. P. Nicholson on the track for Senator, in opposition to Johnson, with a view to carry off any Democratic strength now used in favor of the latter. It is thought that this movement is the most damaging to Johnson's success that can be made, as Mr. Nicholson's popularity is said to be very great with the incoming Assembly.

INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

The Committee of fifteen heretofore appointed to prepare an outline of a plan for the International Industrial Exposition, held a meeting to-night. A resolution was adopted declaring it practicable to hold such exposition in 1871, and that all proper measures should be taken to make it successful.

WILL BE CAPTURED.

There is reason to believe that our Government has adopted all the necessary measures for the purpose of capturing or obtaining possession of the steamer Telegraph, now or recently engaged in committing depredations on American commerce.

APPOINTED.

Beverly B. Bates has been appointed Collector of Internal Revenue for the Sixth District, Virginia, vice Samuel Rateling, suspended.

Important Army Orders.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHICAGO, October 1.—The following communication was received at General Sheridan's headquarters, in this city, today:

Headquarters Camp Supply, Sept. 11, 1869: To Brevet Col. W. G. Mitchell, Acting Adjutant General, Department of the Missouri.—SIR: I have the honor to report that the Indians who crossed the railroad at Grennell's Station, on the Kansas & Pacific Railroad, on the 9th of August, have arrived at this camp, and asked for peace. They number about one hundred and thirty souls. Thirty-two were Cheyennes and the balance Siouz. White Horse, they report, went north. They say they have enough fighting. All of the stock captured was Chayennes, as the Sioux had all their stock in camp.

The following order has been issued by Gen. Sherman, from the War Department at Washington.

The Superintendent general recruiting service at St. Louis, Mo., will assign all disposable colored recruits at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, to the 10th United States Cavalry, subject to the orders of the Department Commander relative to their movement. The Quartermaster's Department will furnish the necessary transportation.

Riot at a Political Meeting.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 1.—The Irish Republican meeting, proposed to be held to-night, on the corner of Twentieth and Market streets, was the scene of riot from its commencement. An attack was made upon the meeting. The stand was broken up, and the speakers were beaten with clubs. A message was sent to the police station for protection to those holding the meeting, which was flatly refused.

Attack on the Keystone Club.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, October 1.—From fifteen to twenty persons were injured in the attack on the Keystone Club, a Democratic organization, including two or three policemen, who were endeavoring to quell the disturbance. The attack occurred in front of the Mayor's Office, and within flye doors of the Invincibles' headquarters.

Executive Committee Meeting.

A meeting of the County Republican Executive Committee was held in the District Court room, Friday, October 1st, W. S. Purviance in the Chair.

The meeting was called to order at 3 o'clock and the minutes of the preceding meeting read and approved.

On motion the following gentlemen were appointed a Committee to receive Hon. John Scott, Hon. Galusha A. Grow and Hon. Bucher Swope, who will address a meeting at City Hall, Monday evening, the 4th ult: John Heath, Esq., Joseph A. Taylor, Esq., Col. T. M. Bayne and Col. George F. Morgan.

On motion of S. W. Reynolds, Z. Wainwright, from the Seventeenth ward, was elected a member of the Executive Committee.

The usual amount of routine business was transacted, after which the Committee adjourned.

A Good Appointment.

An official circular has been issued announcing that under the provisions of the fifth article of agreement between the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway Company and the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railway Company, Mr. John C. Conn has been appointed Secretary pro tem. to the Executive Committee of these roads, to take effect from the first instant. This is a good and well deserved appointment. Mr. Conn has, for many years, been Secretary to J. N. McCullough, Esq., President of the C. & P. R. R., and General Manager of the P. Ft. W. & C. R. R., a position which he has filled with ability. This additional appointment shows the firm trust reposed in him, and his intimate acquaintance with the details of the business of the companies eminently qualifies him for the position.

Seriously Injured.

A serious accident occurred to Mr. George Beltzhoover, a resident of South Pittsburgh, Thursday afternoon, at Bailey's coal platform, on Carson street, in that borough. He has several coat teams, and while standing under the platform attending to one of the teams, a large lump of coal, weighing about fifty pounds, rolled over the edge of the platform and struck him on the back of the head. He sustained a very severe wound, and when picked up was in an insensible condition. Medical aid was promptly summoned, and after some time he was restored to consciousness.

SIR JOHN FRANKLIN.

Dr. Hall's Narrative.

FINDING OF THE REMAINS.

A DEEPLY interesting letter from Capt. Hall, the Arctic explorer, who has just returned from the Polar regions, announces his success in solving the mystery which has heretofore enshrouded the fate of the Franklin expedition. He writes:

REPULSE BAY, June 20, 1869.

Henry Grinnell: Dear Sir:—This day I have returned from a single journey of ninety days to and from King William's Land, with the ardent hope and expectation of rescueing alive some of Sir John Franklin's last companions. The result of this journey was the finding of a tenting place of a few white men and a stone pillar they had erected close by it at the bottom of Parry Bay, and the visiting of several places where white men and their traces had been seen by natives in or about the years 1866-7. I also gained much information from the natives that confirmed the report I had heard in the winter of 1867-8, which I have already stated. And still further proofs of this report have also been obtained on my late visit to King William's Land.

The result of my journey to King William's Land may be summed up thus: None of Sir John Franklin's companions ever reached or died on Montreal Island. It was late in July, 1848, that Crozier and his party, of about forty or forty-five, passed down the west coast of King William's Land in the vicinity of Cape Herschell. The party was dragging two sledges on the sea-ice, which was nearly in its last stage of dissolution—one, a large sledge laden with an awning covered boat, and the other, a small one, laden with provisions and camp material. Just before Crozier and party arrived at Cape Herschell, they were met by four families of natives, and both parties went into camp near each other. Two Esquimaux men, who were of the native party, gave me much sad, but deeply interesting information. Some of it stirred my heart with sadness, intermingled with rage, for it was a confession that they, with their companions, did secretly and hastily abandon Crozier and his party to suffer and die for need of fresh provisions, when, in truth, it was in the power of the natives to save every man alive. The next trace of Crozier and his party is to be found in the skeleton which McClintock discovered a little below, to the southward and eastward of Cape Herschell; this was never found by the natives. The next trace is a camping-place one the sea-shore of King Willian's Land, about three miles eastward of Pfeiffer's River, where two men died and received Christian burial. At this place fish bones were found by the natives showed them that Crozier and his party had caught while there a species of fish excellent for food, with which the sea there abounds. The next trace of this party occurs some five or six miles eastward, on a long, low point of King William's Land, where one man died and was buried. Then, about S. S. E., two and a half miles further, the next trace occurs on Todd's Inlet, where the remains of five men lie. The next certain trace of this party is on the west side of the inlet west of Point Richardson, on some low land that is an island, or a part of the main land, as the tide may be. Here the awning-covered boat and the remains of about thirty or thirty-five of Crozier's party were found by the native Poo-yet-ta, of whom Sir John Ross has given a description in the account of his voyage in the Victory, 1829-'34.

In the Spring of 1849, a large tent was found by some of the natives whom I saw, the floor of which was completely covered with the remains of white men. Close by were two graves. This tent was a little way inland from the head of Terror Bay.

In the Spring of 1861, when the snow was nearly all gone, an Esquimaux party, conducted by a native well known throughout the Northern regions, found two boats, with many skeletons in and about them. One of these boats had been previously found by McClintock; the other was found lying from one-quarter to one-half mile distant, and must have been completely entombed in snow at the time McClintock's party were there, or they most assuredly would have seen it. In and about this boat, besides the many skeletons alluded to, were found many relics, many of them similar in character to those McClintock has enumerated as having been found in the boat he discovered.

The same year that the Erebus and Terror were abandoned one of them consummated the Great Northwest Passage, having five men aboard. The evidence of the exact number is circumstantial. Everything about this Northwest Passage ship of Sir John Franklin's expedition was in complete condition; four boats were hanging high up at the ship's sides, and one was on the quarter deck; the vessel was in its Winter housing of sail or tent cloth. This vessel was found by the Ook-joo-lik natives near O'Reilly Island, lat. 68 deg. 30 min. N., lon. 99 deg. W., early in the Spring of 1849, it being frozen in the midst of a smooth and unbroken floe of ice of only one Winter's formation.

To complete the history of Sir John Franklin's last expedition, one must spend a Summer on King William's Land with a considersble party, whose only business should be to make searches for records which beyond doubt lie buried on that island. My company from Repulse Bay to King William's Land consisted of eleven souls, all Esquimaux. Although they were as untamable as eagles by nature, yet by their aid alone I was enabled to reach points otherwise inaccessible, and when there to gain much important information relative to the fate of Sir John Franklin's expedition. I tried hard to accomplish far more than I did, but not one of the company would, on any account whatever, consent to remain with me in that country and make a summer search over that island, which, from information I had gained of the natives, I had reason to suppose would be rewarded by the discovery of the whole of the manuscript records that had accumulated in that great expedition, and been deposited in a vault a little way inland or eastward of Cape Victory. Knowing, as I now do, the character of the Esquimaux in that part of the country in which King William's Land is situated, I cannot wonder at nor blame the Repulse Bay natives for their refusal to remain there as I desired. It is quite probable that, had we remained as I wished, no one of us would ever have got out of the country alive. How could we expect, if we had got into straitened circumstances, that we should receive better treatment from the Esquimaux of that country than the 105 souls who were under the command of the heroic Crozier, some time after landing on King William's Land? Could I and my party, with reasonable safety, have remained to make a summer searchjon King William's Land, it is not only probable that we should have recovered the logs and journals of Sir John Franklin's expedition, but have gathered up and entombed the remains of nearly 100 of his companions, for they lay about the places where the three boats have been found, and at the large camping place at the head of Terror Bay, and the three other places that I have already mentioned. In the cove, west side of Point Richardson, however, nature herself has opened her bosom and given sepulture to the remains of the immortal heroes who died there. Wherever the Esquimaux have found the graves of Franklin's companions they have dug them open and robbed the dead, leaving them exposed to the ravages of wild beasts. On Todd's Island the remains of five men were not buried, but after the savages had robbed them of every article that could be turned to any account for their use, their dogs were allowed to finish the disgusting work.

Wherever I found that Sir John Franklin's companions had died I erected monuments, then fired salutes and waved the Star Spangled Banner over them in memory and respect of the great and true discoverers of the Northwest Passage. I could have gathered great quantities—a very great variety—of relics of Sir John Franklin's expedition; for they are now possessed by natives all over the Arctic regions that I visited or heard of—from Pond's Bay to Mackenzie River. As it was, I had to be satisfied with taking upon our sledges about 125 pounds total weight of relics from natives of King William's Land. Some of those I will enumerate: 1. A portion of one side (several planks and ribs fast together) of a boat, clinker built and copper-fastened. This part of a boat is of the one found near the boat found by McClintock's party. 2. A small oak sledge runner reduced from the sledge on which the boat rested. 3. A part of the mast of the Nortwest Passage Ship. 4. Chronometer box, with its number, name of maker and the Queen's broad arrow engraved upon it. 5. Two long heavy sheets of copper, three and four inches wide, with counter-sunk holes for screw nails. On these sheets, as well as on most everything else that came from the Northwest Passage Ship, are numerous stamps of the Queen's broad arrow. 5. Mahogany writing desks, elaborately finished and bound in brass. 6. Many pieces of silverplate—forks and spoons—bearing crests and initials of the owners. 7. Parts of watches. 8. Knives, and very many other things, all of which you, Mr. Grinnell, and others interested in the fate of the Franklin expedition, will take a sad interest in inspecting on their arrival in the States.

I must now tell you of the heart-rending, tragical part of my expedition before I conclude this rapid, and I must add, incomplete report, for after all it is but a drop in the bucket to giving you a full idea of the vast amount of interesting and important information I have gained of the natives about Repulse Bay, Ig-loo-lik, Pelly Bay, Neitchille, Great Fish, or Back River and King William's Land relative to the fate of Sir John Franklin's expedition. In the Spring of 1863 I started from Repulse Bay on a dog-sledge journey to King William's Land. My company was entirely of natives, and on our getting about two hundred miles on our way we met a party of Pelly Bay natives who were fleeing from their country on account of "war" raging there. The effect on my company was that on no consideration could they be induced to proceed further, and therefore terrible as was the blow to my plans, I had to turn back, trusting that I could succeed in getting a small band of faithful white men, out of some whale ships, if they should happily make into Repulse Bay. Not until the fall of 1867 was I able to get the desired number of white men to accompany me, besides my Esquimaux interpreters—Joe and Hannah—as an escort of defence, while making the long delayed sledge journey to King William's Land, and even then, it was only at the last moment—that is, while the whaling vessels were weighing anchors and starting for the States—that I was successful. The result of my taking seamen that neither I or their Captains knew much about, proved as many would expect. One of the men, Frank. Lailer, ever proved during the year I employed the party of five men, a most faithful, hard-working and energetic man, fulfilling every position in which I placed him with ability and honor. Two men of the five would, I am quite confident, have proved better men than they did, had they not been ill-advised. None of the men, except noble Frank Lailer, ever accompanied me on any of my great sledge journeys. In the Fall of 1868, during a mutinous attack upon me, when my faithful man was absent about seven miles distant on business, I was compelled, in self-defense, to call into requisition a revolver. Coleman, the leader, fell, and died in fifteen days. At once the rebellion ended, and one of the band came, and like a man acknowledged freely and truly that he and his companions were altogether the guilty ones, and hoped I would forgive him, which I did on the instant. I feel that had I not taken this last "dread alternative," my fate would have been quite as sorrowful as that of Henry Hudson.

C. F. HALL.

—The races at Mystic Park, Boston, yesterday, were attended by over four thousand people to witness the double team race. The race for 2:30 horses, unfinished yesterday, was won by McClellan, best time 2:29. The race for double teams was well contested by Honest Allen and Jessie Wales, Julia Rudberten and Lady Walton, Black Harry and Belle Strickland, and Commodore Nutt and Sorrel John. The purse was one thousand dollars. The race was won easily by Honest Allen and mate in 2:31, 2:32. 2:29¾. This is the fastest time on record for a double team of trotters.

ISRAEL FREYER'S BID FOR GOLD.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 24.

Zounds! how the price went flashing through Wall-st., William, Broad-st., New!
And the specie in all the land
Held in one ring by a giant hand,—
For millions more it was ready to pay,
And throttle the Street on hangman's day,
Up from the Gold Pit's nether hell,
While the innocent fountain rose and fell.
Loud and higher the bidding rose,
And the bulls, triumpnant, faced their foes.
It seemed as if Satan himself were in it,
Lifting it,—one per cent. a minute,—
Through the bellowing b oker, there amid,
Who made the terrible, final bid!
High over all, and ever higher,
Was heard the voice of Israel Freyer,—
A doleful knell in the storm-swept mart,—
"Five millions more! and for any part
I'll give One Hundred and Sixty!"
Israel Freyer—the Government Jew—
Good as the best—soaked through and through
With credit gained in the year he sold
Our Treasury's precious hoard of gold;
Now through his thankless mouth it rang out
The last, worst, cruelest shout!
Pity the shorts? Not they, indeed,
When a single rival's left to bleed!
Down come dealers in silks and hides,
Crowding the Gold Room's rounded sides,
Jostling, trampling each other's feet,
Uttering groans in the outer street—
Watching, with upturned faces pale,
The scurrying index mark its tale,—
Hearing the bid of Israel Freyer—
That ominous voice, would it never tire?
"Five millions more!"—for any part,
(If it breaks your firm, if it cracks your heart,)
I'll give One Hundred and Sixty!"
One Hundred and Sixty! Can't be true!
What will the bears at forty do!
How will the merchants pay their dues!
How will the country stand the news!
What'll the banks—but listen! hole!
In screwing upward the price of gold
To that dangerous, last, particular peg,
They had killed their Goose with the Golden Egg!
Just there the metal came pouring out,
All ways at once, like a water spout,
Or a rushing, gushing, yellow flood,
That drenched the bulls wherever they stood!
Small need to open the Washington main.
Their coffer-dams were burst with the strain!
It came by runners, it came by wire,
To answer the bid of Israel Freyer,
It poured in millions from every side,
And almost strangled him as he cried—
"I'll give One Hundred and Sixty!"
Like Vulcan after Jupitor's kick,
Or the aphoristical Rocket's stick,
Down, down, down, the premium fell
Faster than this rude rhyme can tell.
Thirty per cent. the index slid,
Yet Freyer still kept making his bid—
"One Hundred and Sixty for any part!"
—The sudden ruin had crazed his heart,
Shattered his senses, cracked his brain
And left him crying again and again—
Still making his bid at the market's top,
(Like the Dutchman-in's legthat could never stop.)
"One Hundred and Sixty—Five Millions more!"
Till they dragged him, howling, on the floor,
The very last words that seller and buyer
Heard from the mouth of Israel Freyer—
A cry to remember long as they live—
Were, "I'll take Five Millions more! I'll give—
I'll give One Hundred and Sixty!"
Suppose, (to avoid the appearance of evil,)
There's such a thing as a Personal Devil,
It would seem that His Highness here got hold,
For once, of a be lowing Bull in Gold!
Whether bull or bear, it wouldn't much matter
Should Israel Freyer keep up his clatter
On earth or under it—(as, I say,
He is doomed)—till the General Judgment Day,
When the Clerk, as he cites him to answer for't,
Shall bid him keep silence in that Court!
But it matters most, as it seems to me,
That my countrymen, great and strong and free,
So marvel at fellows who seem to win,
That if even a Clown can only begin
By stealing a railroad, and using its purse
For cornering stocks and gold, or—worse—
For buying a Judge and a Legislature,
And sinking still lower poor human nature,
The gaping public, whatever befall,
Will swallow him, tandem, harness and all!
While our rich men drivel and stand amazed
At the dust and pother his gang have raised,
And make us remember a nursery tale
Of the four-and-twenty who feared one snail.
What's bred in the bone will breed, you know,
Clowns and their trainers, high and low,
Will cut such capers, long as they dare,
While honest Poverty says its prayer.
But tell me what prayer or fast can save
Some hoary candidate from the grave,
The market's wrinkled Giant Despair,
Muttering, brooding, scheming there—
Founding a college or building a church,
Lest Heaven should leave him in the lurch.
Better come out in the rival way,
Issue your scrip in open day,
And pour your wealth in the grimy fist
Of some gross-mouthed, gambling pugilist;
Leave toil and poverty where they lie,
Pass thinkers, workers, artists, by,
Your p.t-house fag from his counters bring,
And make him into a Railway-King!
—Between such Gentiles and such Jews
Little enough one finds to choose:
Either the other will buy and use,
Eat the meat and throw him the bone,
And leave him to stand the brunt alone.

—Let the tempest come, that's gathering near,
And give us a better atmosphere!

[Edmund C. Stedman.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

The unjust and unfortunate report, put in circulation by the New York Times, that great corruption and fraud had been discovered in the management of the Methodist Book Concern at New York, proves to be as we expected. There is no ground for the accusation, so far as official management is concerned. The Christian Advocate, published in that city, represents that the affairs of the Book Concern were never in a sounder condition than at this time, and the institution is just as rich now as it has been, and in the condition its annual exhibits show. The alleged corruption and fraud were said to amount to "several hundred thousands of dollars," and the New York World, in its zeal to outstrip the extravagance usually displayed in the Satanic Herald, and and without stopping to higgle over fractions, writes down the losses at a round million. The real facts are, there has been no defalcation at all, in the usual sense of that word. The Assistant Agent, Dr. Lanahan, having direct charge of the manufacturing department, thought that the purchases had not been made with proper care and economy; that, instead of buying from first hands, the head of the printing department had made his purchases through a commission merchant. That he received any pecuniary consideration is not known certain, and the good character of this trusted agent indicates that he did not, and judgment should therefore be suspended until proof is forthcoming. Allegations of fraud are also made against the head of the bindery department, who is not a Methodist. But the truth of these rumors cannot be known until the examinations in progress are concluded.

Henry Fisher, Esq., Assistant Treasurer of the American Bible Society, died very suddenly some days since. He was appointed to this very responsible place in 1853. Dr. Taylor, one of the Secretaries of the Society, says that from that time until the day of his death, he gave his whole life up to that important service. His death is greatly lamented.

The Episcopal Bishop of Connecticut instructs the Churchman to omit from its diocesan news all compliments to himself or his services. "If they are deserved, they are needless; if they are not deserved, they are so many falsehoods. In either case they are out of place."

Some of the leading religious journals are discussing the Stowe-Byron article in its theological aspect. Mrs. Stowe was not content with inviting the attention of the critics to her literary production, and its truthfulness as a revelation of confidential communications, but to her sentiments as a teacher of religion. She shows her intense hatred to Calvinism, and intimates it was in no small degree responsible for the excesses of Byron's life. He had been taught the Calvinistic view of foreordination and election, and that Divine help, so much needed and supplied only to the elect, was not for him, and he therefore plunged into dissipation to its deepest depths. This is evidently an extreme view, as Lord Byron's "spirit was embittered against Christianity," and he may have used this idea of fatalism as an excuse for his wickedness, living and dying in profligacy, without a sign of repentance. Mrs. Stowe's opposition to Calvinism does not amount to much, owing to the species of liberalism she advocates, and, we must therefore conclude she has not secured any very enviable reputation as a critic in theology.

Twelve years ago, Thursday week, the first noon-day prayer meeting was inaugurated in the Old North (Dutch) Reformed Church on Fulton street, New York. At the anniversary meeting on this occasion the church was crowded with representatives of every Christian denomination. Ministers of the Episcopal, Presbyterian, Baptist, Dutch Reformed and Methodist Churches officated. Throughout the exercises were of thrilling interest. Dr. Schenck, an eloquent Episcopal clergyman, spoke with feeling and vividness, and paid a glowing tribute to the zeal and worth of Mr. Lamphier, to whom the movement owes its origin.

It seems that only seven rectors in the Episcopal Church in Ohi are now in the charges which they occu, ied twelve years ago.

Recent dedications of Jewish Synagogues in several of the large cities East and West, indicate the wealth and increase of numerical strength of our Hebrew citizens. Some of the most beautiful and costly edifices of worship in this country, have been recently erected by this people. The seats in the elegant new Jewish Synagogue, in Cincinnati, have been sold for one hundred thousand dollars.

The sixteenth annual report of the American Congregational Union shows some very interesting facts. During the past year grants have been made to sixty-seven churches, in aid of the erection of houses of worship. The Union, during the sixteen years of its history, has aided in the erection of nearly four hundred houses of worship.

It is estimated there were five thousand Adventists at the recent camp-meeting of the Second Adventists, at Springfield, Massachusetts. They were from all parts of the country. During the year they have printed two million pages of books and tracts. They have half a dozen missions among the freedmen and eighteen colored preachers.

The Chicago Post reports that during the year, 1869, there have been finished or begun, or arrangements have been made for beginning, in that city, twenty-one churches, costing nearly a million of dollars. Several of these edifices cost over one hundred thousand dollars each.

The Catholic Church of the Immaculate Conception, Philadelphia, has adopted the novel plan of partitioning its boundaries from other church parishes, as follows: Sixth street on the west, Green street on the south to the Delaware, Girard avenue and Shackamaxon street to the Delaware river, on the north. Delaware river east.

The Independent says that two-thirds of the students in the General Episcopal Theological Seminary in New York, have just gone over to the Roman Catholics. The Dean of the seminary did his best to dissuade them from their course.

Dr. Junkin, Presbyterian, announced a few Sabbaths ago that he would preach from the words of the Devil at the next service at New Castle, Pa.

A resolution was presented and adopted at the recent session of the North Ohio Methodist Episcopal Conference, requiring each candidate to say whether he would abstain from the use of tobacco. The whole class of young ministers, admitted into full connection, answered in the affirmative, except one, who remarked that he would quit as soon as he could.

Despite the eleven years of a corporated existence of the United Presbyterian church, a correspondent of the Christian Instructor thinks there are differences of opinion of such moment as, in the estimation of some, to imperil its very existence.

THE Income Tax, it is asserted, bears very unequally upon the different States, when the entire sum paid is divided among the respective populations. Thus, the official returns for the income tax for 1868 give the following rates per capita of the States: Nevada, $17.77; California, $5.31; Massachusetts, $4.12; New York, $3.07; New Jersey, $3.07; Oregon, $3; Rhode Island, $2.88; Connecticut, $2.07; Maryland, $1.75; Illinois, $1.19; Delaware, $1,15; Pennsylvania, $1.10; Nebraska, 98 cents; Michigan, 96; Ohio, 92; New Hampshire, 72; Kentucky, 62; Missouri, 58; Minnesota, 58; Kansas, 57; Wisconsin, 48; Vermont, 37; Indiana, 43; Iowa, 41; Maine, 39; West Virginia, 30; Tennessee, 23. The trading and manufacturing States bear a tax very much greater than that paid by the agricultural States, and it is complained that while clerks, persons receiving fixed salaries, professional and business men are rigidly pursued for the income tax, the planters, farmers and agriculturalists generally have many ways of evading the law.

THERE was picked up on the St. Louis Court House steps, a few days ago, an execution issued in 1822 against Thomas H. Benton, for sixty-two dollars, with the penalty of imprisonment for non-payment. On the back is "satisfied."

GENERAL NEWS.

THE survey of the Southern Railway has been completed from Cincinnati to Lexington.

AT Falls Church, Va., citizens have organized a protective association against horse and other thieves.

JOHN LAYMAN, an old man, committed suicide at Hokah, Minn., because he was a Catholic and his wife a Protestant.

THE Proof Sheet estimates that there are printed in States and Territories 542 daily and 4425 weekly newspapers. The number of monthly publications is 277. Total, 5244.

A TORONTO paper says that Mr. James Gibb, a Quebec merchant, who died on Saturday, bequeathed $100,000 to the different charities of that city, both Catholic and Protestant.

MRS. ELVIRA C. COLTON, of Macon, Mo., for personal injuries received on the Hannibal and St. Joseph Railroad, in February, 1866, has obtained an award of $12,000 damages.

TWENTY-FIVE men, armed to the teeth, guarded a house in Vermillion county, Ind., several hours last week, under the belief that they had two burglars entrapped. The thieves turned out be cats.

SEVERAL actresses in New York have been plundered recently by persons getting articles from their wardrobes on false orders. The parties engaged in the swindle have been arrested. Miss Kate Bateman, Miss Lucille Western and others have suffered.

MR. S. O. POLLARD has recovered a verdict for $17,950 against the town of Woburn, Mass., for injuries received by falling into a pit or hole left in the road by the removal of a post. The injuries were so severe as to permanently disable the plaintiff from business.

A MAN has just been liberated from the Michigan State Prison, after a two years' sojourn there, who was innocent of the crime for which he was sentenced. He was charged with stealing, and in order to save the reward to his family he confessed what he had never done.

IT is reported that Miss Maggie Carmean, formerly of Kingston, Ohio, moved some time since to Saline county, Mo., where she married S. W. Stanley, who about three weeks since received notice from England that his father's brother had left him, by will, property to the amount of from ten to fifteen millions of dollars.

SAN FRANCISCO incendiaries make use of an infernal machine, composed of two parts of hardened clay, six inches in length and two in breadth, inclosing a small phial filled with powder, and having a fuse attached to it. The machine, except the fuse, is covered with cloth and twine, saturated with oil.

APPLICANTS for admission as cadets at West Point in the Third Congressional district of Massachusetts, will be subjected to competitive examination in Boston on October 4th. Every instructor at the Academy and every intelligent graduate favors this system, and it should become universal throughout the country. Poor boys would then have some show.

AN "UNFORTUNATE" known as Cordelia Wade, before the Police Court of Cincinnati, was sentenced to thirty days' imprisonment and to pay a fine of $100, for malicious destruction of property. Just after the sentence had been pronounced, she took a mineral water bottle from her pocket and let it fly at the reporter's desk, the Times man narrowly escaping a disfigured physiognomy.

THERE is a child in Mason county, Ky., now two years and a half old, who was born without a tongue. Its parents state that it has never seemed to suffer any inconvenience from the want of the member except in the matter of talking; but they think it will learn to articulate some words very well. The child is a lively, bright-eyed little fellow, who seems a very close observer, and anxious to understand things.

THE Newburyport Herald thinks it time for a "strike" in the lecture business, and adds: "One or two hundred dollars for an hour's talk about reform, women's rights, female suffrage, and the like, is what 'Poor Richard' terms paying dear for the whistle. The professors of the Academy of Science, at Salem, will furnish lectures of real value upon scientific subjects, at less than a quarter the money, and forty times as good."

THE Catholics of Meriden, Conn., are in a high state of excitement over the refusal of Rev. Father Walsh to read service over the remains of Robert Burns, a prominent member of his congregation. The grounds of refusal are that the funeral was attended by a long line of carriages, against the Rev. Father's command, he having decided to discountenance all display at funerals, and to limit the number of carriages proper at such a time to four. The man was buried without the aid of priest or sexton.

FEW are aware of the great extent to which straw is used for making paper. In the town of Chatham, New York, 7,500 tons of rye straw are yearly used to make paper of, and yield about 1,200,000 reams of various sizes. Okra fibre is coming into use for the manufacture of paper. We have seen specimens of the paper made from this material, and are surprised by its fineness of texture, its stout body and excellent color. Only an experienced person could see any difference between it and paper made from rags. It is said to be somewhat cheaper than rag paper.

IN pursuance of orders issued by the Board of Police, everything human, or otherwise, that passed through the Washington street Tunnel, in Chicago, on Wednesday last, between 6 a. m. and 7 p. m., was placed on record. The following is the result: Total number of foot passengers through the foot passenger way 5,288, of which number 2,648 went from east to west, and 2,640 from west to east. Total number of vehicles 3,383, of which number 1,798 went from west to east, and 1,585 from east to west. The persons in the vehicles were not counted. Ordinarily probably no less than 15,000 or 16,000 pass through daily.

AN old man, whose sight was defective and had to use glasses, was reading a newspaper on the train between Wheeling, Va., and Washington, a few days ago. When the cars reached the first tunnel the quick disappearance of the light caused him to look up. Taking off his spectacles and wiping them, he replaced them and again tried to read. Perceiving that all was still dark, he dropped both paper and spectacles, exclaiming, in a loud voice, "My God, I'm blind, I'm blind!" This aroused the passengers, and it was a long time before he could be convinced what was the matter. On coming again to the light he thanked God fervently for his sight.

DR. WHITTIER
CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL private diseases. Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects, as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory, and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate, intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.
A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.
It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.
The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.
The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms, is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. Sundays: 10 A. M. to 2 P. M. Office, No. 9 WYLIE STREET, (near Court House,) Pittsburgh, Pa

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, October, 1 1869.

There is nothing really new or important in commercial circles worthy of special notice. Business generally, although by no means brisk, is nevertheless fairly active, as much so as could be expected under existing circumstanees, and the indications for the future are encouraging. There is a continued fair local demand for all of the leading commodities with a fair business in the aggregate, though under the influence of a sharp competition, margins are pretty well reduced. The worst feature just now is the financial troubles in New York, and the stringency in money matters, which renders collections very difficult; this, of course, has a tendency to retard business and restrict operations.

ASHES—Steady but unchanged—4@4¼ for Soda, and 9 for Pearls.

APPLES—In good supply and unchanged; sales at $1,00@2,50, for common to choice.

BUTTER—Prime to choice Roll is in demand with sales at 30@33, while common is in good supply and dull; sales of 1,000 lbs latter at 22.

CRANBERRIES—Sales of prime eastern cultivated at $11,50@12,00 per bbl.

CARBON OIL—Is in fair demand but prices are lower; we now quote at 27½@28, for round lots, and 29@29½ in a jobbing way.

CHEESE—Sales Hamburg at 15; Factory at 16; and Goshen at 17@18.

EGGS—Fresh packed quoted at 22@23.

FEATHERS—Dull; quoted at 80@85 cents to the trade, and the usual advance for small lots in store.

FLOUR—There is no improvment to note in the demand and while the market is quiet and dull, prices are unchanged. We continue to quote good to choice winter wheat flours at $6,75@7,00 per barrel.

GRAIN—Wheat is in steady demand at $1,30 for prime red, and $1,35 for prime white. Oats dull with increased arrivals and a supply considerably in excess of present demand; offered freely at 50 on wharf and track; sales in store at 52@53. Rye is quiet and unchanged; sales at $1,10@1,11, and choice State might bring $1,12. Prime ear corn is in steady demand at $1 on wharf and track, and $1,03@1,05 in store. Barley is unchanged; $1,25@1,30 for prime to choice.

HAY—Sales at Allegheny Diamond market of 73 loads, at $15@21.

HEMP—Very dull, $205 per ton.

HUSKS—Sales at 2¾@3 cts per pound.

LIME—Sales of Cleveland white lime at $1,75 per bbl.

LARD OIL—F. Sellers & Co. quote Extra No. 1, at $1,43@1,45, and No. 2, at $1,05@1,08

ONIONS—Scarce and firmer, with sale at $3,50@3,75 per bbl.

PROVISIONS—Firmer and higher. Shoulders, 16¾@17; Ribbed Sides, 20; Short Ribbed, 20½; Clear do, 21; plain Sugar Cured Hams, 22½; Cavassed do, 24. Mess Pork, $33@33½. Lard, 20¼ in tirces, 20½ in ½ bbls, and 21 in kegs. Dried Beef, 22.

PEANUTS—None in market.

PEACHES—May be quoted at $1 to $2,50 per bushel, as to quality.

POULTRY—Sales of chickens at 55 to 65 cents per pair.

POTATOES—Jersey sweets selling at $5@5,50 per bbl, the outside figure for prime fresh receipts.

SEED—Flaxseed is in demand, and the mills are paying $2,20@2,25. Small sales of timothy seed at $4,25@4,50. No demand for clover seed.

SALT—Is firmer, with sales of car load lots at $1,85 per bbl.

STRAW—Sold in Allegheny market at $12 per ton.

PITTSBURGH IRON MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, October 1, 1869.

The metal market is reported firm with a demand fully up to the supply, and prices are firm and well sustained. Nearly all, if not all, of the mills are in full blast and as a consequence there is a steady demand for mill irons, and some of the foundries are buying pretty freely, though mainly in small lots and the demand is restricted mostly to be best grades.

In bar iron and nails, there is also a very good business, and all of the mills are reported as being full of orders. The recent advance, we are told, affords a margin to the manufacturer, so that the iron trade, upon the whole, is in a better and healthier condition than for some time past.

APPLE PARERS.—I have a full assortment of Apple Paring, Coring and Slicing Machines, which I invite all to call and see them tried. The PARING, CORING AND SLICING MACHINES, takes only three turns o the crank to pare, core, and slice an ordinary sized apple. It will pare without slicing or coring required.

Dried Apples sell much higher when sliced with this machine than when quartered by the old process.

Also, a full assortment of

RIVER NEWS.

The river was about stationary last evening with four feet six inches in channel. Weather continues clear and pleasant.

No arrivals aside from packets. Camelia from St. Louis, is over due, having been delayed, doubtless, by fog.

Private telegrams from Cincinnati, report that Capt. C. A. Dravo, has purchased an interest in the St. Charles, and will take command and run her between here and Cincinnati. Price, it is said, at the rate of $17,000 for the entire boat.

Capt. W. S. Evans, of the firm of Evans Dallas & Gilmore, has received from Montana, a pair of mammoth buckhorns. They were forwarded by Mr. Coulson, engineer on the Peninah, and one of them is intended for Dr. Jas. B. Herron, of Allegheny, Mr. Coulson's physician.

The Belle, Capt. H. H. Sholes, is the regular packet for Parkersburg to-day, leaving promptly at noon.

The Messenger, Capt. Jesse Dean, is filling up steadily for New Orleans and will be the first boat out.

—Capt. C. A. Dravo was in Cincinnati on Wednesday.

—The St. Charles was to have been sold at public auction at Cincinnati on Thursday.

—Capt. Frank and Dan Marrattacs new hull arrived from Freedom on Thursday—it measures 120 feet length.

—Captain P. Conrad has bought Capt. Charles M. Baker's interest in the Cornelia, for $12,000, and now owns the entire boat.

—The new tow-boat Fred Wilson, made a trial trip on Thursday, and everything is said to have worked satisfactorily.

—Joseph Walton, the well-known coal man, has purchased from J. O'Neil & Son, the tow-boat Niagara and twenty-two barges, for $22,000.

—The U. S. Inspectors at Memphis, on the 27th, revoked for one year the license of Philip Bart and John Wallace, engineers on the illfated Phantom.

—There are three snagboats in the Missouri, below Jefferson City, working their way down. They will operate shortly between the mouth of the Missouri and Cairo.

—It is said that the first boat that towed coal boats to Cincinnati was the Plowman, Capt. T. Chester, in 1836. He took two boats measuring eighty feet long and twenty feet wide.

—At New Orleans, on the 17th, the U. S. Local Inspectors revoked the lisence of W. J. Kribben and W. H. Wrigley, pilots on the Great Republic and Arcona which collided several weeks ago.

—It was intended to send the J. T. Dravo out for Louisville on the recent rise with a tow of coal, but it was found impossible to get a crew at anything like reasonable wages. Fireman wanted $80 per month, and deck hands, $60.

—We understand that the evidence in regard to the explosion of the steamer Cumberland will be laid before the Grand Jury of the United States Court, in Louisville, at the next sitting. We will then probably find out whether or not "anybody was to blame."

—The Louisville Courier of Wednesday, says: The Mary Davage and barges, for New Orleans, had all she could carry on the water, and declined receiving any freight here. She left one of her barges here, which will be towed to Cincinnati by the Leslie Combs. It could have been loaded here, but Capt. Hugh Campbell is not partial to sand bars, and was not willing to take the risk of detention.

—The Cincinnati Gazette, of Thursday, says: The Batesville arrived from Pittsburgh yesterday, with 18 tuns of freight for Cincinnati and 60 tuns for Louisville. She was stuck on Glass House six hours, and broke her spars in trying to get off. She has no freight on board for any point below Louisville, but has enough engaged here and at Louisville to fill her out for White river and will depart to-day.

—Capt. Frank Stein writes from Memphis under date of Sept. 28 as follows: The steamer Wauanita arrived here last night. Knocked a hole in our side, about a foot under water, when landing at Cottonwood Point. Made about thirty inches water. The snag went through between two timbers, breaking in one plank about six inches wide. If our hold had been full it would have been impossible to have saved her.

PROPOSALS

FOR

Lumber, Bricks, Slate, Glass & Copper.

Sealed proposals will be received at this Arsenal until 10 A. M. on TUESDAY, October 5th, 1869, for furnishing 80,000 feet White Pine Flooring, best quality, 1½ by 6 inches by 12, 14, 16 and 18 feet long.

96,000 feet White Pine Sheathing Boards 1½ by 8 inches by 14, 16 and 18 feet long.
95,000 feet White Pine Joists 2½ by 5 inches, and 16 feet long.
20,000 feet White Pine Joists 2½ by 4 inches, and 16 feet long.

All lumber to be of good quality, entirely free from large or loose knots, sap, shakes, splits and rot, and all to be delivered at site of shops at this Arsenal before the close of navigation in 1869.

Proposals will be made per thousand feet, board measure, and will state whether the lumber will be delivered on cars or wagons.

SEALED PROPOSALS will also be received at this Arsenal until 10 A. M. on WEDNESDAY, October 20th, 1869, for furnishing the following materials:

About 1,100,000 Bricks for floor arches.

All bricks must be of the best quality, sound and well burnt. Samples will be furnished with the bids.

Proposals will be made per thousand bricks, delivered at site of shops, at this Arsenal, and will state whether on cars or wagons. Delivery to commence by 1st of May, 1870, and all to be delivered before August 1st, 1870.

ALSO, for furnishing and putting on in mortar with copper nails, about 600 squares (of 100 square feet) ROOF SLATING.

The slate must be of the best quality. Samples of different sizes and varieties will be furnished and separate proposals made for each.

Proposals will be made per square (of 100 square feet) of slating exposed when put on the roof, no extra allowance to be made for edges or waste in cutting. The United States to furnish no labor and no material, excepting sand and lime for the mortar.

The roof to be laid so that less than one-third of the length of each slate shall be exposed to the weather, and all laid within sixty days after the roof shall have been made ready for slating.

ALSO FOR GLASS.

800 lights 27 by 13½ inches.
1,400 lights 26⅝ by 13½ inches.
1,900 lights 26½ by 13½ inches.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 130⅜.

IN THE suspension of the Nashville Press, the Radical Republicans of Tennessee will be left without one daily journal in that State.

INTELLIGENT Democrats, who have read recent utterances of the Pittsburgh Post touching the sinking fund, have our heartfelt commiseration for their sufferings.

THE SUEZ CANAL has been navigated from the Mediterranean to the Red Sea. The formal opening of this important work will be very soon celebrated with imposing ceremonies.

THE Philadelphia Telegraph, professing to be Republican habitually carps at the Republican nominations and is quoted by the opposition press accordingly. It is now ascertained that its present editor was recently the Democratic editor of another journal. We have heard of a similar case on this side of the Alleghenies.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL will find it a tough job to persuade the Senate that the Act of April 10th, '69, for the reconstruction of Virginia, authorizes the provisional Legislature of that State to elect United States Senators in advance of the Congressional approval of their constitution. That Act does expressly provide for the prior election of Representatives and for the ratification of the XVth Article, but not a word of it is found to warrant the senatorial elections, and not all the logic of all the Attorneys in the Union can supply the omission.

OPPOSITION journals predict with great confidence, that the XVth Article will not be ratified by the Tennessee Legislature which meets next week. On the other hand, more than one of her Conservative politicans, like ETHERIDGE, are outspoken in urging, upon their friends in the majority, not only a policy of moderation, but the adoption of the broad and liberal principles which are in keeping with the progressive spirit of the age. The chances in Tennessee are certainly against the Article, but its rejection will be more certain when we have advices of the fact.

IT IS OFFICIALLY REPORTED that the National Debt was diminshed last month by the sum of $7,467,429,39. This makes the total reduction since the incoming of the present administration $56,968,187,90.

Now when it is remembered that during the last of JOHNSON'S administration the debt was regularly increased full $3,000,000 the difference between the two is rendered manifest. But this is not the whole case. While this large reduction has been actually accomplished, the taxes have not been increased. The gain has resulted entirely from the superior efficiency and honesty of the men who now hold judicial offices under the government, as compared with their immediate predecessors. The Johnson place-men clearly plundered the Treasury to the extent of $75,000,000 every six months, which is, the sum now saved and applied to the cancellation of the public debt.

In the face of these disclosures, which cannot be controverted, Democratic orators and journals have the effrontery to urge the people, from considerations of honesty and prudence, to turn the present agents of the Government out, and to let back the old swarm of plunderers, or another set, not a particle better. The voters will not be likely to heed these suggestions.

A POLICY WORTH ADHERING TO.

Gold was yesterday quoted below 131. Of the lame ducks in Wall street, some are well enough again to go the pace, while others have entirely disappeared from the scene. Now that the flurry is over, it is seen that no one has been seriously hurt, except a limited class with whom the public at large need have no sympathy. The banks are sound, stocks are looking up, confidence is reappearing in business circles generally and the feeling all around is that the financial situation is sounder and better than at any time before or since the close of the war.

Gambling in gold will continue in a moderate way, but the operators in that direction have lost the power which has enabled them to control the market for the year or two past. Excluding their mischievous agency, the gold premiums would have been seen steadily settling down, under the favoring pressure of the financial and commercial prosperity of the country at large, to a lower figure than even the present quotations, and with the drift still tending downward, until par would have been reached probably ere this. This is what the country still desires, and what it will secure if the financial problem be fairly let alone to work itself out. In the meantime, the surplus of current accumulations of metal in the treasury should be, from time to time, thrown into the market by the Secretary, thus contributing to the same final result, towards which his last week's work has taken so long a step.

The fall trade of New York is unusually extensive and flattering. The harvests of the country have been extraordinary in quantity and quality. The farmers are comfortable, and that is the sure basis of a general prosperity which New York is sure to feel the benefit of, among the very first. Yet we are now told that "a powerful delegation of her merchants and importers," alarmed "by the disturbed condition of financial affairs," protests against the Secretary's policy and besieges the President with subsidies for his intervention to stop the gold sales. These trading financiers are "stuck" with large stocks on hand, laid in at the gold rates of the past sixty days. They know that the premium is sure to decline under the policy of the treasury, and they will be large losers before they can clear out their importations. There is where that shoe pinches. The protection they seek is not compatible with the general interest. A steady and sure decline in the premium, such as they clearly foresee, will be of more benefit to the country than the profit or the loss of a small trading class. We sincerely hope that the policy which Mr. BOUTWELL has inaugurated so decisively will not be abandoned upon these interested representations. The country confides in his discretion and accepts, thus far, all his accomplishments with a great popular satisfaction. Let him persevere in his line, if it takes another year or two.

THE CRIMINAL CLASS.

What shall be done with the violators of the penal laws? This is a question about which many men talk flippantly, but only a few have stopped to consider it fully and in all its aspects. Magistrates and custodians of convicts know from painful experience that a system of prison discipline has not yet been devised having a direct and positive tendency to reform offenders who are brought under its provisions. Nay, all the systems tried hitherto have only had the effect to harden and reduce to desperation most of the individuals who have been subjected to them. Even hell, according to all authentic reports from that fierce dominion, has not reduced a single sinner to the condition of a penitent. Yet it is fair to presume that there, under the administration of infinite wisdom and discretion, punishment, simply as such, has wrought the best it is capable of.

In England so complete has been the failure of all efforts to transform bad men into good ones by any plan of incarceration that attempts in that direction have been given up. Now, upon the conviction of individuals charged with crimes, they are, by orders from the courts, sent back to the places whence they came, placed under the inspection of the police, and allowed to take up and pursue any lawful calling that may suit them. This is a close approach to a system of universal forgiveness; the distinction being that if, under this scheme, a convict shall commit a fresh offence he is liable to be at once arrested and imprisoned under the prior condemnation. The results of this scheme are much better than those that have been produced by any system of imprisonment whatever.

Of course, such treatment of criminals does not comport with prevalent conceptions of the nature and necessity of retributive justice. And it must be confessed that this scheme, based essentially upon exhibitions of mercy, does not succeed infallibly in reaching the desired end. The inclination to and the habit of transgression are frequently too strong to be counteracted by restraining influences of any description. This development has led many thoughtful but stern persons to the conclusion that whenever a deliberate offender passes into the grip of the laws the most salutary method of dealing with him is that which takes his life. Whatever may be his hereafter, society in this world is well rid of him and the contagion of his example.

Multitudes of people, whose sensibilities would quickly revolt against confessing to faith in this heroic and sanguinary plan of penal administration come much nearer to it than they are willing commonly to allow. If a man commits a crime their first impulse is to punish him commensurately with his conduct. It is this spontaneous sentiment of justice—this fiery instinct of revenge—that flashes out horribly in summary executions by lynch law. Closely related to this feeling is the passionate outburst of dissent that is sure to follow the pardon of a convicted criminal. So much torture, for so much crime, is the remedy prescribed by the masses, whose cogitations do not go down to the causes of human depravity, for all who disturb the peace and order of the community.

This subject needs for its true solution a broader treatment. It may be that an age, or even some ages, will elapse before all the facts essential to the ultimate generalization shall be discovered and marshalled in proper rank, but when the end shall be reached, it will be seen how little of genuine reason or discretion is embodied in either of the present conceptions of criminal jurisprudence.

THE Somerset Herald sticks a sharp pin into a small bubble, in this way:

"Our big brother Brigham, of the Pittsburgh Commercial, having heard that Mr. Stutzman had withdrawn from the Senatorial contest, and that the editor of this journal would probably be taken as a candidate in his stead, announced to his readers on Thursday last that in judgment he was magnanimously pleased to concur with the Republicans of this district, and that Mr. Scull was a very proper man.

Having learned, however, during the course of the day, that we held him as a disorganizer, for laboring to defeat regular Republican nominations in different parts of the State, by virulent abuse of the nominees, our amiable compeer suddenly changed his estimate of Mr. Scull's personal character, and the next day assailed him as lacking in decency of manners, and, in short, as no improvement upon the abominable Stutzman.

Just how much the Commercial's endorsement or denunciation of men is worth, as well as the heft of its editor's personal and party integrity, can be judged from this incident. Happily, Mr. Scull will now escape the suspicions which would have been excited among the sturdy Republicans of this county, by an endorsement from that well-known guerilla sheet.

MINOR TOPICS.

NEXT SUNDAY, the last services will be held in old Trinity Church. For the last time those walls, so hallowed by memory and time, will resound with the familiar sounds from the chancel and the choir. Since the removal of the old First Presbyterian Church, no similar event has occurred in Pittsburgh. No building which has been so long a sacred land-mark has been destroyed. There are thousands of our citizens who have cherished recollections twining about the old House of God, which will be sadly wrenched by this march of improvement. We suppose it is necessary to destroy—in fact we believe it is not considered safe not to destroy the old Church, but if we built our large houses as we should, if we had infused in us some of those ideas of solidity which pervaded the minds of the ancients, we would not now be forced to chronicle the necessity of so disrupting so many tender ties. Thick walls and lasting materials would make an excellent armor for many of our sensibilities, and though they cost more they last longer. Temples were not built to Jupiter and Venus to endure only a decade or two; marble and granite and plenty of them were thought to be necessary for their construction, and men's childrens children handed them down, as time-defying memorials of their piety, to their descendants. If Christians choose to consider that brick and stucco are good enough for their temples, they must expect to have their attachments rudely severed occasionally, as in this instance. But having once tried, we hope and believe they will not do so again, and that the new structure, about to rise, will point the road to heaven as steadily in the twenty-fifth century as it probably will in the nineteenth.

THE Louisville Courier Journal calls upon the riflemen of Kentucky to accept the proposition of Lord Elcho for an international shooting match. It wants them to take their old guns from over the doors, cast a few bullets, and, thus armed, to cross the rushing waters, and as champions of the "dark and bloody ground," meet the English sharpshooters and "wipe out the Oxford calamity." This is a fine idea of the Journal; but suppose the Oxford calamity should be duplicated; suppose that the modern English breech-loaders should wipe out the old "Betsies" and "Deer-slayers" of the trappers of Kentucky; what then would suffice as a national dish-cloth to wipe out the double stain upon American credit? No, we do not believe very much in international contests; but if we must have them, why by all means let us give our champions the best weapons for the duel, and then start them off prepared to do their best. We did this with the Harvards, and they won honor, but not victory. But if we send over a lot of backwoodsmen, armed with the weapons of the war of 1812, we might win a proper amount of ridicule, but probably nothing else.

"CHILDREN OF SILENCE."

Noble Philantrophic Enterprise—Establishment of a School for Deaf Mutes—Encouraging Success of the Experiment.

The noblest feelings of our natures are those which are drawn out in sympathy with the suffering and sorrowing. It is such feelings which lead to all those active beneficent enterprises which are the true glory of any people, and which take no nobler form than in the establishment of these institutions scattered here and there over our land, for the relief of the children of misfortune thrown helpless upon our care. Such institutions are the outgrowth only of a Christian civilization that measures every movement in society by the degree in which it protects, relieves and elevates humanity. In this view Pittsburgh has worthily honored herself in the establishment of a Deaf Mute School whose history, results thus far, and future prospects are replete with interest and instruction.

ITS ORIGIN.

One bright Sunday afternoon about eight months ago, a scholar in the Mission Sunday School established in the old Sixth Ward School building, Franklin street, brought with him a little colored boy about six years of age, whom he introduced to Mr. J. Kerr, the Superintendent, as "a little boy who can't hear and can't speak." The Superintendent suggested a Colored School near by as the proper place for the new recruit, but the little missionary earnestly plead that he might be allowed to remain, urging as a reason that "his ears are plugged up and his tongue tied." Mr. Kerr, struck with the enthusiasm of the scholar, and with the sympathetic feeling for the unfortunate mute, with whose bright, cheerful countenance he was favorably impressed, consented to receive him until some better provision could be made; and so he gained a place in the school. His condition rendered it a very serious question how he should be instructed, which at first seemed an insuperable barrier to his remaining. Anxious, however, to do the best under the circumstance, this difficulty was surmounted by the active exertions of the Superintendent, who made the acquaintance of a graduate of the Hartford Deaf Mute School, and persuaded him to take charge of the strange scholar on Sunday afternoons. Several Sabbaths passed in this manner, when the mute class was enlarged by the addition of a white boy, found in the neighborhood by the Superintendent. The class thus formed became the attraction of the other scholars, as well as visitors, and a separate room was found necessary. Here a new difficulty presented itself, the parents of the white boy refusing to allow him to be in company with the colored mute. Fortunately, another teacher was procured, and this difficulty thus amicably arranged. From this small beginning the class began to increase in numbers and soon twenty-five scholars were on the roll, half of whom were regular attendants. The work also began to attract attention, and the school became a religious centre for the mutes in our vicinity, who attended the services and took a lively interest in them. Through the energetic exertions of the Superintendent and others, the proper supply of books was secured, together with four new teachers, all educated mutes, who were easily induced to engage in the work. The teachers were Mr. A. Woodside, Wilkinsburg, William K. Drum, Twelfth ward, Jacob Sunkel, Allegheny, and Samuel Davidson, of Braddocks. Andrew McMasters, a young son of Mr. Hugh McMasters, though not a mute, also enlisted in the cause, and with his father aided regularly in teaching.

The school progressed so well, and gave such evidences of the need of such an institution, that the idea of establishing a day school was conceived. The new movement fell into the hands of Rev. Dr. John G. Brown and Messrs. Kerr and McMasters, who at first thought of sustaining it by subscription. This idea they abandoned, however, and brought the matter in a more practical form before the Central Board of Education, explaining their object so clearly that the Board granted an appropriation of $1,000 and the use of a room in the Duquesne School House, First ward, for the furtherance of the project. Under these auspices the school opened five weeks ago, with Mr. A. Woodside as Principal, and his sister, Miss Woodside, who, though not a mute, is a teacher of experience and thoroughly acquainted with the system of mute teaching, as his assistant. Thus the school was regularly organized and the experiment placed on a trial.

THE PUPILS.

A visit to the institution yesterday gave us much pleasure and was full of interest. We found present twenty scholars, the school having steadily increased from eight pupils to that number. They range in ages from six to twelve years, and save in the one great misfortune, which almost separates them from communication with their fellow-creatures, bear no dissimilar traits to other children of their age and growth. Childhood, so pure, so innocent, so hopeful, is beautiful everywhere, and these benighted "children of silence," though in a measure apart from humanity, are no peculiar exceptions. The visitor, upon entering their school room, is greeted with an intelligent, furtive glance of childish curiosity, and observes on the countenance of all that cheerful, sometimes bright and beaming expression which irresistibly attracts and controls the attention. They seem to study with the same spirit, and evince the same interest in surrounding circumstances as those more favored, and were it not that their conversation is never heard, and is only noticeable in the animated countenance and peculiar method of signs the visitor would be unable to distinguish their unfortunate condition.

About half of those we saw were not congenital mutes but had become so through disease, which had destroyed their sense of hearing, and with it the power of speech. These are the most easily instructed, their previous knowledge, however slight, being of great advantage. Provision has been made whereby pupils from districts outside the city are admitted at an annual tuition of twenty dollars, and already there are several representatives of this class in the school. To those from Pittsburgh the school is free. They seem to understand all that is told them and manifest a great desire to learn. One of the most interesting sights is to witness their method of conversing with each other, which they do in the most natural and animated manner.

The history of the pupils individually is replete with interest and instruction. Among those in attendance is a little girl, who comes daily from the upper part of Birmingham, is always on time, and in the school room studies with avidity. A bright little fellow, about six years of age, is brought every day from Troy Hill, Allegheny, by a servant, and takes such a delight in the exercises that thus far he has not been absent at any session. Another pupil, a little girl about eight years of age, has a still more interesting history. Until the opening of the school she had lived in the utmost neglect, and when discovered by the teacher who sought her out, was not acknowledged as one of the household by her parents. They were finally persuaded to change their course, and she was allowed to attend the school; and now, although without previous instruction, under her few weeks' training, she can spell and write fluently for one so young, stands at the head of her class, and is among the most promising scholars. Another has been gradually brought from a state of semi-idiocy to something like her right mind, and bids fair to develop into intelligent, useful womanhood. The little colored mute, the cause of the origin of the school, has a desk appropriated to his use, and is not a whit behind his white companions either in general brightness of appearance or excellence in studies. The majority of them are females, and the children of indigent parents, and were it not for this benevolent and humane work they would never have an opportunity of rescuing themselves from that mental and moral darkness which is the natural outgrowth of their condition.

HOW THEY ARE TAUGHT.

The school hours range from 9 to 11½ in the morning and 1 to 2½ in the afternoon. For the first day or two after entering, the pupil is allowed to remain passive. The novelty of the situation by this time has worn away and the work of instruction begins. There are two methods, one of which is an attempt to teach articulation, but the result of this system has never been satisfactory, and it is not generally considered practical. The other is the sign method, which is taught in our schools. It is very simple, and is based on the principle of object teaching—in part, references to actual scenes and objects, and in part to pictures. The teacher, with a child's primmer, containing the letters in large fair print, and the appropriate finger signs printed underneath, exhibits these to the pupil, at the same time making the sign with her own hand. Children are natural imitators, and the pupil soon endeavors to follow its instructor. Sometimes it is necessary to place its hands in the proper positions, after which it rarely fails to make the sign without such aid. The alphabet is gone through with in this half object, half-pantomimic way, the pupils acquiring a facility of distinguishing the letters about as fast as any child can learn by hearing. The next step is spelling words. These at first are generally the names of animals, or something which can be illustrated by a simple picture. Exercises of this character are printed in a primer. The word is shown and the picture alongside it, the child thus learning partially by sight, and being able to distinguish the letters, soon learns to spell the word, in the appropriate finger signs. The process is somewhat similar to that of a child learning by hearing. Short sentences are next taken up, and being always accompanied by a picture are learned as the alphabet and words have been, the same principle holding good throughout, and the pupil being required always to make the finger signs corresponding with the orthography of the words or sentences. They are at the same time taught to write while learning to spell. Each pupil is furnished with a pencil and slate, and a copy given him in the usual way. They are taught the letters by the finger signs, the teacher first making the written letter and then the corresponding sign, just as the printed letters are taught them. In this way they learn to read and write, and can readily read either manuscript or print. Having in this way acquired the elementary principles, the remainder of the work, as in the case of the child who hears, is comparatively easy, and only a question of time. The pupil of course must learn everything himself, as he is totally shut out from the large amount of knowledge which comes to us by hearing. But notwithstanding this he advances step by step in a practical way, and soon becomes enabled to read fluently, write well, and through these mediums hold communion with his friends and the world.

THEIR PROGRESS.

Illustrations of the progress made in the school were given us, which were eminently satisfactory as showing the practical value of the teaching. The advanced class, numbering the oldest pupils, had no difficulty when placed at the black board and given any sign to make the corresponding letter either in writing or printing. Some of the writing which was exhibited would have done credit to any of the pupils in our lower primary schools. The day before our visit the advanced class had been given a sort of compound lesson in sentences and colors. Pictures colored in various styles had been shown them, with the name of the color printed underneath. The next day they could readily recognize the various colors in articles of clothing which they wore and in objects around the room, and give the names in appropriate signs to the teacher, showing that they had not only learned to spell the words, but could recognize the color by its name. An interesting evidence of their progress was also witnessed when the class were set at spelling and "trapping," during which they spelled some of the most difficult words with a facility truly astonishing. The same feeling peculiar to children was observable in those who succeeded in maintaining their position in the class or getting higher by "trapping," while the expression of chagrin and humiliation which clouded the features of those who were unsuccessful told more plainly than words their sense of defeat. These, and other exercises interesting and instructive to every lover of his kind, exhibited, in a marked degree, the rapid advancement of the pupils and the practical value of the institution which is

AN HONOR TO PITTSBURGH.

Thus far it is but an experiment. There are none like it in the world. There are institutions where the deaf mute may receive instructions, but the attendant expense is so great that none but the affluent can partake of their advantages. Aside from this the mute educated away from home, returns to mingle with his friends who are unacquanted with his education, and thus he is shut up almost within himself, and in turn loses half of the advantages of his training. With this system, however, he mingles daily with his friends, they become educated with him, he is encouraged as he proceeds and ultimately is enabled to to hold communication with them, almost as fully as though possessed of all his powers. Although these advantages were noted at the outset of the movement, many who favored any practical measures for the amelioration of this unfortunate class of humanity withheld their support and predicted failure, and it was only through struggles and embarrassments and untiring perseverance that the philanthropic men urging it forward succeeded in establishing in on a systematic basis, and thus connecting with our noble common school system another department. Thus far the success has excelled the most sanguine expectations and made the future bright with promise. Should it ultimately succeed, and it can hardly fail, a new era will have dawned upon these unfortunates, one of hope and progress and development never before conceived. Pittsburgh has honored herself in thus responding to the appeal of her "silent children" for light and knowledge, and proved by the act that amid the absorbing whirl and din of business she can turn aside for a moment to perform those higher works of charity and Christian beneficence which are the accompaniments of an advanced civilization.

Important to Voters.

Examine the assessor's list, one of which is posted on the house where the election is to be held, and the other in the Assessor's hands. You have a right to examine them free of charge.

These lists should contain your name, and the names of all other qualified voters in the district; they should state, if you are a housekeeper, the number of your house, the street it fronts on; your occupation; if you board, where and with whom you board; if you work for another, your employer's name; and opposite your name should be written the word "voter."

If you have been naturalized, ther will also appear the letter "N."

If you are between 21 and 22 years old, the word "age." If you have removed into the district since the last election, the letter "R." will appear opposite your name.

Make it your personal duty to see that your name is upon the list. Do not trust this matter to any one else.

If you find your name is not on the list go yourself to the assessor, and make claim to be put on. He is bound to add your name. He cannot question your right. You need not discuss the matter with him, your "claim" is enough. Give him your precise residence, occupation, &c. He will mark "C. V." opposite your name.

If you delay until within ten days of the election, you may lose your vote.

Naturalized citizens, you must show your "papers" to the assessor, in order to get your names registered.

If you intend to take out your "last papers" before the election, you must show your "first papers" to the assessor.

See that your names are on the list.

Those of you who do not need to have "first papers," and intend to be naturlized before the election, should get naturalized first, immediately, and go to the assessor with your "papers."

All naturalized citizens must take their "papers" with them to the polls unless they have been voting for ten years in the same district.

You must take your "papers" with you when you go to vote, even if your name is on the list.

Do not forget this, or your enemies will deprive you of your vote.

The law in relation to the payment of taxes is unchanged. If you have paid neither a State nor county tax, assessed within two years, do it without delay.

Take your tax receipt with you to the polls.

Do not delay in registering or paying your taxes, attend to the matter now, for fear something may prevent you hereafter.

THE Republican Executive Committee of Carbon county contains quite a number of former Democrats, such as Dr. D. K. Shoemaker (Chairman), General Lilly, General Albright, Captain John Shields, T. Frank Walter, Louis Beedhardt. Captain John Glasser, A. J. Lauderburn, Esq., A. Christman, Esq., Reuben Serfass, Hon. Tilghman Arner, and others. All of these are now actively engaged rallying the Republicans of Carbon county for Geary against Asa Packer.

THOU BRINGEST ME LIFE—LUNG-WORT.

One of the truest and most suggestive ideas can be obtained from the caption at the head of this article; for of all diseases which impair human health and shorten human life, none are more prevalent than those which affect the lungs and pulmonary tissues. Whether we regard lung diseases in the light of a merely slight cough, which is but the fore-runner of a more serious malady, or as a deep lesion corroding and dissolving the pulmonary structure, it is always pregnant with evil and foreboding of disaster. In no class of maladies should the physician or the friends and family of the patient be more seriously forewarned than in those of the lungs, for it is in them that early and effeient treatment is most desirable, and it is then that danger can be warded off and a cure effected. In DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE you have a medicine of the greatest value in all these conditions. An alterative, a tonic, a nutrient and resolvent, succoring nature and sustaining the recuperative powers of the system, Its beautiful workings, in harmony with the regular functions, can be readily observed by the use of one or two bottles: it will soon break up the chain of morbid sympathies that disturb the harmonious workings of the animal economy. The harrassing cough, the painful respiration, the sputum streaked with blood, will soon give place to the normal and proper workings of health and vigor.

An aggregated experience of over thirty years has enabled Dr. Keyser, in the compounding of his LUNG CURE, to give new hope to the consumptive invalid and at the same time speedy relief in those now prevalent, catarrhal and throat affections, so distressing in their effects and so almost certainly fatal in their tendencies, unless cured by some appropriate remedy. DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE is so thorough and efficient, that any one who has ever used it, will never be without it in the house. It will often cure when everything else fails, and in simple cases will cure oftentimes in a few days.

The attention of patients, as well as medical men, is respectfully invited to this new and valuable addition to the pharmacy of the country.

DR. KEYSER may be consulted every day until 1 o'clock P. M. at his Great Medicine Store, 167 Liberty street, and from 4 to 6 and 7 to 9 at night.

NOW IS THE TIME

To repair the inroads made upon the physical strength by the heated term which has closed with September. The vitality that has been oozing through the pores in the form of perspiration, for the last three months, requires to be replaced, as a preparative to the cold season which makes such disastrous havoc with relaxed and untoned sytems. The reverse of vigor with which the stoutest man commences the Summer campaign is drained out of him at its close, and unless by some means he acquires a new stock of vital energy wherewith to encounter the shock of a colder season, he may droop and wither like the falling leaves whose life-juices are exhausted. If it is thus with the strong, how much more perilous is the condition of the weak and ailing. Their reason must suggest to them, more forcibly than these printed words, the necessity for invigoration, and the world have decided, after an experience of nearly a quarter of a century, that HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS embrace such restorative properties as are not possessed by any other tonic and alternative preparation in existence. The importance of resorting to that great RENOVATOR AND REGULATOR OF THE HUMAN MACHINE, at this critical season is as obvious as the light of day. Let all who desire to escape an attack of chills and fever, bilious remittent fever, dysentery, diarrhœa, dyspepsia, rheumatism, hypochondria, or any other of the diseases of which the Fall season is the prolific parent, have recourse promptly to this celebrated preventive and restorative,

TO THE SELECT AND COMMON COUNCILS OF THE CITY OF PITTSBURGH, PA.

Your special Committee appointed by joint resolution of June 28, 1869, in conjunction with the City Solicitor and City Engineer, "to enquire into and ascertain the right of the city to the piece of ground at the junction of the rivers Allegheny and Monongahela, and the extent of the same, and whether it would be suitable for a city park, &c., and with power to confer with the Allegheny County Monumental Association as to the practicability of adopting the same as a site for the location of said monument, &c," respectfully submit for your consideration the following report:

We find that the city is the owner of a piece of ground at the place indicated containing about seven acres. The City Engineer has prepared a draft of the same, which is herewith submitted. By an examination of the same it will be seen that by protecting the banks by a wall built of stone, and including a small piece of ground at the junction of Water street and Duquesne Way, belonging to private individuals and containing about two acres, the same may be made into a public park which will contain over nine acres.

The cost of the entire improvements cannot exceed twenty-five thousand dollars.

It will have a water front of three-fifths of the whole, and will be easily accessible to all the thickly settled and crowded portions of the city. Lying as it does at the extreme west end of the city, and separated by the three rivers from the manufacturing portions of the neighboring city and boroughs, it is the cleanest part of the city of Pittsburgh.

It is in full view of all approaching the city from the West, by rail or river, and the most suitable place for a public park in the city.

We have conferred with the managers of the Allegheny County Monumental Association, but as we could not officially offer them this site for their monument, and they could not therefore adopt the same, yet we feel assured that if the same were offered, it would at once be adopted by their board as the place above all others suitable for the Soldiers' Monument.

We find, however, it will be necessary before Councils can establish said park, to procure additional State legislation.

We therefore recommend that Councils take the necessary steps to lay out and improve a public park at the place designated, and accordingly herewith submit the draft of an act of Assembly for the purpose, with the accompanying resolution.

PACIFIC RAILWAY GOLD LOAN.
Messrs. DABNEY, MORGAN & CO., 53 Exchange Place, and M. K. JESUP & CO., 12 Pine Street, N. Y., offer for sale the Bonds of the Kansas Pacific Railway. These Bonds pay seven per cent. in Gold; have thirty years to run; are Free from Government Taxation; are secured by a Land Grant of Three Million Acres of the Finest Lands in Kansas and Colorado. In addition to this special grant the Company also owns Three Millions of Acres in Kansas, which are being rapidly sold to develop the country and improve the road. They are a first mortgage upon the extension of the road from Sheridan, Kansas, to Denver, Colorado. The road in operation, 437 miles long, upon which it is also a mortgage, NOW EARNS MORE THAN ENOUGH NET INCOME TO PAY THE INTEREST ON THE NEW LOAN. There is no better security in the market—this being in some respects better than Government Securities. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD. Price 96, and accrued Interest, in Currency. Pamphlets, Maps and Circulars furnished on application.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, October 1, 1869.

The financial question is nearly coming to a settlement in Wall street, and matters look more like in ordinary times. Great diversity, however, exists in regard to the immediate price of gold, although it is generally conceded that that the tendency is towards a lower premium. The price of gold, so far as it is a football of speculation, would not concern the mercantile community very much, but a lower premium for the next few days would affect all values, whilst a moderate rise would bring new life into business at once. Calmly viewed, and taking a survey of the course of gold since the war closed, and considering the position of the Government financially, it must be evident that under a rich cotton crop which leaves about two million bales to be exported, would realize 175 millions of dollars. The vast amount of grain and flour to be shipped, yield an immense amount of money that will go far towards liquidating our imports. Whatever may be said against the high prices of grain, which would prevent a fall exportation, experience shows that any surplus of any product will seek a market, and if not at a good profit, at a loss, and grain can not be kept forever. Judging from this no amount of reasoning can be brought to convince any clear headed individual that the price of grain, as well as cotton, has to be lowered with the decline in gold in order to be exportable. What is true of grain and cotton, is equally appliable to other products, like petroleum, tobacco and manufactured goods in our home markets will also bear a considerable reduction with price of labor and rent reduced, which latter in a natural course will follow, since the power to purchase is reduced. The rich capaltist has perceived this long ago, and was a seller while the poorer and middle classes were buyers at the advanced prices, but their means reduced, a point must soon be reached where the offers to sell are plenty and the buyers scarce.

The course of Government securities was rather a rising one during to-day, but at the close the market weakened. Lower prices have to follow lower quotations for gold, for want of an upward speculative movement and scarcity of money among the large dealers.

Stocks although firm, did not maintain the outside quotations, and parties fearing to carry them over Sunday, perfer to sell at small profits.

Money is easier but not plenty. Our local market is well supplied with funds, but banks are pursuing a conservative course. Business dull,

NEW YORK, October 1, 1869.

Money market easy during the morning, and before the close of the banks money could be had quite freely at 7 per cent. on Government and stock collaterals. Discounts nominal. Sterling dull and heavy at 7⅛@7¼. Gold opened at 130, touched 130⅝ and closed at 130⅜. The Sub-Treasury sold a million at 129 55-100@130 17-100. Carrying rates 7 per cent., and 1-32 per cent. to flat for borrowing.

Governments active and higher, particularly on currency Sixes, closing strong. Coupons: 1881, 119¼@119⅜; '62, 120¼@120⅜; '64, 119¼@119⅜; '65, 119¾@119⅞; new do., 118@118⅛; '67, 118¾@118¼; '68, 118@118¼; 10-40's, 109¼@109½; Currency Sixes, 109@109¼.

State Bonds firmer. Missouris, 85½; old Tennesssees. 60½; new do., 52, old Virginias, 50; new do., 51; old North Carolina; 49½; new do., 43.

Stock market was unsettled towards the close of the day and lost its buoyant feeling of the morning. Rumors as to the finances of the Lake Shore Company were the cause of the change in feeling. There was a general and marked decline in prices, more especially in New York Central, Hudson River, Lake Shore and in the new stocks. The heavy advance in the morning enabled many parties to sell out securities held as collaterals for loans which could not be responded to for some days past. This threw an additional load of stocks on the street, and assisted materially in depressing the market. At the close the market was unsettled.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, October, 1, 1869.

The oil market was very quiet to-day, the busines in the aggragate being comparatively light, though the feeling generally seemed to indicate firmness, and prices for both crude and refined were fully sustained. The financial troubles in New York and the uncertainity in regard to the future course of gold, has a tendency to retard business and restrict operations, and until these clogs to the trade have been removed, no material improvement is expected.

There is still considerable refined oil being shipped south and west, both by river and rail, and the orders from these quarters are reported steadily increasing. If the charges for transportation by rail, from here west, were not so stiff, the demand would be much better and the shipments much larger: the rates by river are very low, and as a consequence nearly every boat leaving has more or less oil.

CRUDE.

But a single sale reported to-day 1,000 bbls, seller October (40@45 gravity) at 14¾. Spot quoted at 14⅝@14¾; and seller all 1869, at 14⅜@14½. Last evening there was a sale of 1,000 bbls spot at 14⅜; and 5,000 seller all 1869 at 14½.

REFINED.

Market firm but very quiet—some inquiry and but little offering. Spot quoted at 31¾@32; first half October, 32¼; last half 32½; and last three months, 32⅛. Sales of small lots on spot here at 27½@28. Sale 500 last half October at 32½.

Dry Goods Market.

NEW YORK, October 1.—Trade opened a little brighter and more active, but closed tamely. Prices, though less buoyant, in the main rule steady, however. Lacinia Brown Cotton Flannels more scarce, and prices have risen to 19c. Pacific Mills Prints are reduced to 13½c. Fine plain Cottons about ½c per yard lower. Atlantic P Brown Sheetings reduced to 12½c, Boatts to 12c, Massachusetts B B to 12½c, do I to 12c, New Market A to 12½c, and Bedford R to 12½c. Standard Sheetings steady at 16½c for good brands. Plaided dress goods are scarce and high. Plaided fancy and sash ribbons are also scarce, and bringing awfully high prices. Black silks are depressed, Common balmorals are getting very scarce and looking up decidedly.

Live Stock Markets.

NEW YORK, October 1.—Cattle scarcer and only 1,130 head arriving to-day and are mostly of common stock, and all were sold at unchanged rates, the quality ruling of 10@16c per pound. A very fine drove of 7 cwt Texans brought 12@15c. Sheep; arrivals of 3,000 head, and not all sold; more than 6,000 came in yesterday and some of them are still left; trade slow at unchanged rates. Hogs gone to 13¼c for dressed; arrival of live, 2,700 head, but no sales; they are quotable at 9¾@10¾c.

STATE ITEMS.

BROOKS, the Philadelphia revenue detective murderously assailed a few weeks since, is able to go about, and his alleged assailants have been admitted to bail.

ON FRIDAY of last week James Ames, aged eight years, son of Mr. Ames, of Nottingham tp., Washington county, while eating got a chicken bone fastened in his throat and choked to death before medical assistance could be procured.

NO LESS than nine of the police force of Philadelphia were dismissed on Wednesday for a variety of indiscretions. The Post says Mayor Fox "has such a miserable lot of fellows sprinkled among his choicest men that it keeps his police court busy trying the worthless cusses."

A LADY named Heasley, from Illinois, returning to her father's home in Millsboro, attempted suicide recently by jumping into the river from the steamboat Bennett, at the Cookstown landing, on the Monongahela. She was mentally deranged, owing to the serious illness of her father.

THE Producers' Association held a meeting at Oil City on the 29th, and elected the following officers: President, Wm. Brough; Vice Presidents, Wm. Lay, F. W. Andrews; Secretary, C. V. Culver; Treasurer, Arnold Plumer. Fifty managers or directors were also elected. A resolution was passed requiring the Secretary or the Managers of the Association to urge on the management of the Oil Creek and Allegheny River Railway the necessity of making a change in the running time of the passenger trains, in order to accommodate the public.

ONE of the Avondale victims, Hugh Gilroy, not having been buried in consecrated ground in the Catholic cemetery, in consequence of his not marrying in according with the rites of the church, the remains were exhumed, Bishop O'Harra consenting, and conveyed by the G. A. R., of which he was a member, to the old cemetery near the Dickson Manufacturing Company. Father Hunt met the party at the grave and the ceremonies were conducted quietly and solemnly throughout. The sum of $30 was paid to the widow by the Post, it being the usual amount given to widows of members.

THE following changes of Postmasters in Pennsylvania have been approved:

BAYARD TAYLOR has been appointed to a professorship in the Cornell University, of New York, and has accepted the position.

A MONUMENT has been erected over the grave of Hiram Woodruff, who during his lifetime was so well known on the trotting turf.

REV. WILLIAM GREEN has been convicted in Litchfield, Ct, of poisoning his wife, and has entered upon a life term at the State Prison.

A VERY pretty little anecdote is related of Mdlle. Carlotta Patti, the incidents of which occurred during a visit to England some years ago. On a certain summer afternoon, while riding through one of the beautiful suburbs of London, she observed a sparrow, which seemed to have been wounded, fluttering along the roadside. Pitying the little sufferer, she alighted from her carriage, and taking it up very tenderly, discovered that both of its legs were broken. The forlorn condition of the bird, the character of its injuries, with which her own disability taught her so well how to sympathize, and its apparent willingness to be cared for by so kind a hand, induced Mlle. Patti to take the poor little creature home. Since that hour the bird and the cantatrice have been inseparable friends. It has been with her in all her journeyings, accepts its food from no other hands but hers, and seems to watch and wait for her as if it possessed an intelligence capable of gratitude.

CUES AND NOTES.

VERDI is writing a comic opera.

A NEW 300,000 thaler theatre is to be put up in Cologne.

THE musical gypsies are to be excluded from English steamboats and railways.

A MUSIC HALL, capable of holding two thousand persons, is building in Stockholm.

"THE Bridal Veil" is the charming name to be given to a Minnesota watering place, near Minneapolis.

A NEW contralto, who is making something of a sensation in London, is an Irish girl called Helene D'Alton.

SHEFFIELD is to have the largest and most complete music hall in England, to cost, including an organ, £15,000.

AMBROSE THOMAS' opera of Hamlet is said to be greatly overrated; the greatest success in it is a Swedish ballad introduced by the composer.

AUBER is one of the many composers who have treated musically the story of the Prodigal Son. Dr. Arnold, an English musician, is the latest.

WAGNER's latest opera, "Rheingold," is said to have been brought out in Munich, with more scenic gorgeousness than was ever before attempted in that gigantic royal theatre in that city.

ADELINA PATTI, according to the foreign musical journals, will come to this country in 71-2 to sing one hundred times for two thousand dollars in gold for each performance, besides traveling expenses for six persons. It is rumored that after her American tour Patti will retire from the stage.

Foreign Convicts.

Dr. Francis Lieber has recently written a letter to Hon. Hamilton Fish, United States Secretary of State, on the plan adopted by foreign governments of sending their convicts to this country. Dr. Lieber also blames the State Governors for pardoning prisoners, on condition of leaving the State where they were convicted. He also states that about a year ago a high prison official in England wrote to the New York Prison Society, asking whether arrangements might not be made under which convicts, in England, who had been released on account of good behaviour, after serving out one-half or two-thirds their term, would be received in the United States, and furnished with a quarter section of land. This inquiry was made at a time when English burglars and pickpockets, of the most skilful character, were flocking into New York. Twenty-five years ago, Sir James Graham, Home Secretary in Peel's Cabinet, actually published a general rule, that convicts who had conducted themselves well, after serving out two-thirds of their sentences, would be pardoned, on condition of leaving Great Britain.

This plan, of sending gangs of criminals to the United States or the British colonies, Dr. Lieber likens to the plot to introduce yellow fever into the Northern ports of the United States during the war. Such conduct, it is contended, is contrary to the modern law of nations, which is based upon the principle of good neighborhood. To put a stop to the evils mentioned, Dr. Lieber suggests that treaties with other governments should be negotiated, whereby every attempted importation of convicts shall be declared to be a grave offence against the law of nations, and a most "unfriendly act," calling for serious remedies; secondly, that Congress should pass a law making it a highly penal offence to introduce convicts into the United States, and imposing heavy fines on the captains and owners of vessels so offending. Such a law passed the House of Representatives in February, 1867, but failed to be acted on in the Senate.

A NEW YORK dispatch says: Hon. John Bigelow leaves the Times to-night. They are to try subordinate editors, one after another, in his position. If they all fail, there will be a chance for outsiders.

Fisk, Gould and other leading bulls in the recent unpleasantness, have not yet appeared on the streets. James Fisk, Jr., refuses to make any statement. The impression to-night is, that he will deny having given any verbal or written order to anybody to buy gold, and will hold on to $900,000 he is reported to have made.

Prominent members of the Stock Exchange declare that the stock panic was created by Commodore Vanderbilt, who was determined to squeeze Lockwood & Co. out of existence.

Still later it became known that Commodore Vanderbilt, through the failure of Lockwood & Co., had gained control of the Lake Shore and Wabash roads, upon which there was a more confident feeling. It was felt that the largest capitalist in the country was behind in the market, and prices recovered four and twelve per cent. from the lowest quotations of the day.

Subsequently, however, there was a partial reaction from this improvement. It is reported that Messrs. Lockwood & Co., in anticipation of their failures, had an interview with Commodore Vanderbilt, in which the Commodore was informed of the circumstances of the house, and was tendered 70,000 shares in Lake Shore stock at a certain price.

The veteran accepted the offer, and at one stroke gained control of the Lake Shore line, out of which he was reported defrauded by Mr. Lockwood, at the annual meeting.

PIERRE BLOT has written to the New York World explaining the reason why cheap and good dinners cannot be had in this country as well as in Europe. The disinclination of Americans to go any distance for their dinners, and their habit of taking this meal at the counter nearest their places of business, is regarded as the main cause of the difficulty. In Europe the case is different, and business men there will walk blocks, and even miles, to reach a place where they can get cheap and good food. Another reason is said to be the foncness of Ameribans for display, and their preference for this unsubstantial quality to palatable and digestible dishes. And again, the rents in this country, custom necessitating the location of eating-houses in the very centers of business, are very much higher than in Europe, and the busy part of the day is confined to a space of about three hours, while most of the restaurants are entirely closed on Sunday. On the other hand, those who eat at restaurants in Europe take two meals a day, and at different hours; the breakfast hour is from 8 o'clock in the morning to 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and the dinner hour from 4 o'clock to 9 o'clock in the evening, and on Sundays the business at all the eating-houses is livelier than on week-days. In concluding, Mr. Blot says that those who carry lunches with them have two advantages above all others—they get a cheap lunch and take their dinners at the proper time—which is when they are through with the business of the day—they then have time to eat and to digest.

HOTEL BILLS abroad are famous for their inordinate length, as well as for the large amount of the "sum total." The landlords, it is true, give every item, but this furnishes little satisfaction to the traveler, except to learn in how many ways he can be plundered and how "extras" can be added on. As a model of a bill, however, a recent visitor to the seabathing resort of Trouville, France, who took a bath in his own room, furnishes the following specimen of charges, reduced to United States currency: Two pails of spring water, 10 cents; bringing the water into the room, 20 cents; coal for warming the water, 10 cents; matches, for lighting the fire, 5 cents; bellows, 5 cents; large china bath tub, $2; two towels, 80 cents; two napkins, to mop up the water spilled on the floor, 40 cents; for cleaning the stairs on which the water had also been spilled, 30 cents; washing of towels and napkins; 20 cents; making a total of $4,20 for the warm fresh water bath in the bedchamber.

A CORRESPONDENCE published in a Washington paper shows how "spontaneous enthusiasm" is manufactured. A Councilman contemplating a return home from Cape May, wrote to the Mayor's messenger to get up a serenade, with "Welcome Home'" transparencies, he, the Councilman, to pay all the bills. The serenader and sernaded having since quarrelled, the correspondence is exposed to an admiring world.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, if taken according to directions. They are all three to be taken at the same time. They cleanse the stomach, relax the livor and put it into work; then the appetite becomes good; the food digests and makes good blood; the patient begins to grow in flesh; the diseased matter ripens into the lungs, and the patient outgrows the disease and gets well. This is the only way to cure consumption.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivaled success in the treatment of pulmonary Consumption. The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, and the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To do this, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the ducts of the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon relieved; the stools will show what the Pills can do; nothing has ever been invented except calomel (a deadly poison which is very dangereus to use unless with great care,) that will unlock the gall bladder and start the secretions of the liver like Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Schenck's Seaweed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative, and the alkali in the Seaweed, which this preparation is made of, assists the stomach to throw out its gastric juice to dissolve the food with the Pulmonic Syrup, and it is made into good blood without fermentation or souring in the stomach.

The great reason why physicians do not cure Consumption is, they try to do too much; they give medicine to stop the cough, to stop chills, to stop night sweats, hectic fever, and by so doing they derange the whole digestive powers, locking up the secretions, and eventually the patient sinks and dies.

Dr. Schenck, in his treatment, does not try to stop a cough, night sweats, chills or fever. Remove the cause, and they will all stop of their own accord. No one can be cured of Consumption, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Catarrh, Canker, Ulcerated Throat, unless the liver and stomach are made healthy.

If a person has consumption, of course the lungs in some way are diseased, either tubercles, abcesses, bronchial irritation, pleura adhesion, or the lungs are a mass of inflammation and fast decaying. In such cases what must be done? It is not only the lungs that are wasting, but it is the whole body. The stomach and liver have lost their power to make blood out of food. Now the only chance to take Dr. Schenck's three medicines, which will bring up a tone to the stomach, the patient will begin to want food, it will digest easily and make good blood; then the patient begins to gain in flesh, and as soon as the body begins to grow, the lungs commence to heal up, and the patient gets fleshy and well. This is the only way to cure Consumption.

When there is no lung disease and only Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are sufficient, without the Pulmonic Syrup. Take the Mandrake Pills freely in all bilious complaints, as they are perfectly harmless.

Dr. Schenck, who has enjoyed uninterrupted health for many years past, and now weighs 225 pounds, was wasted away to a mere skeleton, in the very last stage of Pulmonary Consumption, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and since his recovery many thousands similarly afflicted have used Dr. Schenck's preparation with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not absolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck, unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his Principal Office, Philadelphia, every Saturday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. He is also professionally at No. 32 Bond street, New York, every other Tuesday, and at No. 35 Hanover street, Boston, every other Wednesday. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer the price is $5. Office hours at each city from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic each $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists. mv19:151-d&F

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

Primary Meetings.

Republicans of Allegheny, remember the primary meetings this afternoon between three and seven o'clock. Let every voter be out.

Name Added.—Mr. Zach. Wainwright, of Lawrenceville, has been added to the Republican County Executive Committee. No better worker or more zealous member of the party organization could have been chosen.

Declination—Mr. Calvin Adam, of the Second ward, positively declines being a candidate for Common Council. The contest will be between Messrs. Charles Hauch, Jas Vick, D. W. C. Carroll, Dr. Addison Arthurs and J. C. Mattern.

Illegal Liquor Selling.—Yesterday Alderman McMasters issued a warrant for the arrest of Wm. Fransy, proprietor of a saloon at Blossomville, Baldwin township, charged on ooth of Patrick Duffey with selling liquor to his minor son.

Boat Race.—The race between the picked crews of the Eagle and Vigilant fire companies for $100 and a supper will take place at four o'clock this afternoon. The race will be three miles, over the lower Monongahela course, and Mr. Henry Tatnell will act as referee.

Alleged Disorderly House.—James Addison made information yesterday before Alderman McMasters against Bernard Pulaski and his wife, Mrs. Long and a girl named Lizzie for maintaining a disorderly bawdy house on Pasture Lane, Sixth ward. Warrant issued.

Second Ward.—The Primary Meeting in the Second ward, Pittsburgh, will take place next Thursday, and not to-day, as we erred in announcing, yesterday. It is hoped that every Republican voter will appreciate the importance of the meeting and be on hand to cast his vote

Room for Rent.—A furnished room, fronting on Wylie street, will be let to one or two gentlemen with or without board. The location is the most desirable on this street. Reference required. Call at No. 94 Wylie street for particulars. 3

Left his Children.—Simon Schuck, proprietor of a saloon on Diamond alley, was before Alderman McMasters yesterday, charged on oath of Catherine Renstatt with deserting his children and leaving them without a home or the necessaries of life. The accused was required to give bail for Court.

There will be a meeting of the Republican Vigilance Committee of the Tenth (old Fifth) ward held at the Lamb Hotel, corner of Penn and Fifteenth streets, on Monday evening, October 4th 1869. A full attendance is desired as business of importance will be brought before it.
By order of the President.

Church Re-Opening.—The Pennsylvania Avenue M. E. Church having undergone thorough repair and substantial improvement in many respects will be formaly re-opened to-morrow. Rev. J. McKendree Reilley, formerly pastor of Christ Church, will preach in the morning and also in the evening and in the afternoon there will be interesting Sabbath School exercises.

A Revenue Case.—Wm. Floxing, residing in the Third ward, Allegheny, was before United States Commissioner Gamble Thursday evening charged with violating the Revenue law. He is a cigar manufacturer, and it is charged that he has not only neglected to take out a license but had failed to comply with any of the regulations. He was required to give bail for trial at court.

Death of an Old Citizen.—Capt. James Young, of East Birmingham, died yesterday morning after a protracted illness, resulting from a fall some fourteen months ago. Capt. Young has for over half a century been identified with the city, and was for many years connected with steamboat interests. He deservedly occupied high place in the estimation of the general community, and his death will be deeply regretted. His funeral will take place to-morrow morning at ten o'clock.

The following Citizens' Ticket has been nominated in the Fifth, or old Third ward: Alderman—John A. Strain. Select Council—John Kaiser. Common Council—Jacob Keller, Capt. W. C. Dean and Henry Knoebel. School Directors—Charles Fiatzouskie, Henry Bentz, John Meyer, Frederick Bierman and Wm. J. Dick. Judge of Election—James Renzishausen. Inspector—John O'Connor. Return Inspector—John M. Lytle. Return Judge—Anthony, Mamaux. Constable—A. D. Dean.

Homeopathic Hospital.—The number of prescriptions issued from the Dispensary department of the Homeopathic Hospital, Second avenue, during the month of September were two hundred and eighty-eight. Many of the applicants requiring surgical treatment. There are also more patients under treatment in the Hospital now than at any previous time. Patients unable to procure medicines or treatment receive both free of charge at the Dispensary every day, except Sunday, from eleven to twelve o'clock.

Appleton's Journal has taken rank among our foremost periodicals, and, probably more successfully than any other, unites the useful with the entertaining. Its admirably made up pages of purely literary matters are supplemented by well written papers on popular science while each number is varied or accompanied by large and effective illustrations. Altogether, in neatness of appearance, in artistic embellishment, and in general excellence of its greatly-varied literature, Appleton's Journal takes foremost place among our literary periodicals.

Serious Accident.—Yesterday evening about five o'clock, an accident occurred on the St. Clair street suspension bridge, by which Mr. Isaac Dickey, a lumber merchant in Allegheny, was severely injured. He was crossing the bridge on a load of lumber and when near the north end, fell from the front of the wagon at the heels of the horses, one of which kicked him cutting a deep gash above the left eye and bruising the cheek severely. He was picked up insensible and removed to the office of Doctors Hazlitt and Elliott where his wounds were properly dressed.

Monongahela Valley Railroad.—The Waynesburg Republican of this week says: "This, it seems, is to be no longer a myth, a by-word, and a thing that will come sometime, but it is to be built next year. We are informed by a reliable gentleman, one who knows, that the Company has proposals from three different parties, each of which is anxious to go to work at once upon the road. About the first of January next a new set of officers of the Company will be elected, when the building of the road will at once be undertaken. In a future number we will speak of the advantages of this road. We only mention it now to tell the long expectant that the morning is almost here."

THE COURTS.

District Court—Judges Hampton and Kirkpatrick.

FRIDAY, October 1.—The case of the Commonwealth ex rel William Martin vs. Trustees of Plum Creek Church, is still on trial.

John Chess vs. Wm. Barnhill & Co.—Plaintiff's council moves for a new trial, and files reasons for same.

Common Pleas—Judge Stowe.

FRIDAY, October 1.—David Hutchinson vs. John B. Hessin, action on a contract. The jury failed to agree, and were discharged.

In the case of Hacket vs. Grimes et al. Motion for a new trial, and reasons filed by defendent's counsel.

Pennsylvania Railroad Company vs. The Monongahela Incline Plane Company. Petition to enjoin the respondents against constructing said incline presented, and preliminary injunction awarded.

Joseph McDonald vs. Robert Franklin. Action to recover for work and labor done. Verdict for defendent and balance certified in his favor of $2,18.

Duff and Ewing vs. Hoffman and Edward Boland, Contractors. Sci. fa. on a mechanic's lien. Verdict for defendents.

Nellie Cooney vs. Lydia Litchfield. Action to recover for services rendered. Plaintiff, it appears, was employed to do general housework. Verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $40.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Mellon.

FRIDAY, October 1.—John Gelster indicted for the larceny of a hog, reported on trial yesterday, the jury returned a verdict of guilty. Sentence deferred.

The first case taken up was that of the Commonwealth vs. Isaac Williams, indicted for larceny. The accused is a colored man and he was charged with stealing a guitar and a pair of pants from Thomas Lee, also a colored man. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and recommended the prisoner to the mercy of the Court. The prisoner was sentenced to the Work House for six months.

Commonwealth vs. Daniel McCoy and John Jones, indicted for the larceny of a pair of gold spectacles, the property of Mrs. L. Ward. The spectacles were taken by the defendants, who are both small boys, to a jeweler on Wylie st., who discovered the name of Mrs. Ward engraved upon the spectacles and retained them. The jury returned a verdict of guilty, and recommended the defendants to the mercy of the Court. The defendants were remanded for sentence.

The next case taken up was that of the Commonwealth vs. John Helfman, indicted for assault and battery on oath of Charles B. Taylor. Mr. Taylor, according to his testimony, deals in "needles and anchors," old iron, &c., and it appears that Mr. Taylor keeps his iron lying loose in front of his mansion, on Bedford avenue, a fact taken advantage of by wicked boys and old junk dealers. The former, as he alleges, steal his iron and sell it to the latter. Mr. Taylor went to the premises of the defendant to search for some of his old iron, when the latter forcibly ejected him. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty, and directed that the defendant pay one-half the costs and Charles B. Taylor, the prosecutor, the other half.

James Dillon indicted for assault and battery, Jerry Scanlon prosecutor, It appears that Dillon is a bar keeper on Penn street where he and the prosecutor got into a difficulty, when Scanlon alleges that he was knocked down by Dillon. On trial.

To be Repeated.

The Keystone Skating Rink last evening was filled with a large and discriminating audience to witness the Stereoscopticon entertainment, given for the benefit of the Soho Mission Sabbath School. So well pleased were those in attendance that an unanimous request was made for the repetition of the exhibition this evening. Accordingly arrangements have been made for an entire change of programme, and to render the affair within the reach of all, the price of admission has been lowered to twenty-five cents.

The entertainment taken altogether is certainly one of the finest of the kind ever given in our vicinity. The paintings exhibited are copies from the original of some of the great masters, and so true and correct as to be hardly distinguishable. One of the scenes, especially "The Fated Ship," is remarkably fine, and full of spirit, while all, whether comic or sentimental, are excellent. Not the least feature is the singing of the children, which alone would be sufficient for an ordinary entertainment. Those desiring to pass an hour or two pleasantly and aiding in a very worthy cause should attend the Rink to-night.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—The Opera House was filled with a large and fashionable audience last evening, which was Mr. John E. Owens' benefit night. "Dot, or the Cricket on the Hearth" was presented in excellent style, as was also "Toodles." Mr. Owens' Toodles is unexceptionable. Ladies should remember that Mr. Owens appears at the matinee this afternoon in an excellent bill, and that this evening closes his engagement.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—The Old Theatre was filled last night as usual, and the entertainment was an excellent one. Miss Viola Clifton, Emma Grattan and Frank Dillon appear to be the favorites, but the entire company are stars in their profession and render general satisfaction to the patrons of the establishment. A grand matinee will be given this afternson for the benefit of ladies and children, and an unusually interesting bill is announced for this evening.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—Two more entertainments closes the engagement of the Gregories at the Academy of Music. The matinee this afternoon will afford an excellent opportunity to ladies and children to witness an entertainment of this excellent and amusing company.

A Runaway.

A serious accident occurred on the Monongahela Suspension bridge about half-past nine o'clock last night, resulting in the probable fatal injury of a valuable horse, and the serious injury of a man. It appears that Mr. H. Rolfe, of Birmingham, hired a valuable saddle horse from Jackson and Devore, on Third avenue, yesterday, and in the evening directed a young man who works for him to bring the horse home. The man started, and when passing the toll house at the south end of the bridge, the horse being high spirted took fright and ran away. When about halfway over the bridge, he ran into car No. 10 on the Birmingham railway, throwing his rider against the car with such force as to break an arm, dislocate a shoulder, and otherwise injuring him. The horse was so severely injured that he will probably die before morning. It appears that he struck against the iron dash board of the car, cutting his breast terribly. The injured man was placed in a car and removed to his home, where his injuries were attended to. The horse was placed on a sled and taken to the stable.

A Prisoner's Troubles.

One of the prisoners in the county jail seems to have had lately an extraordinary run of ill luck. Not content with having him locked up, his evil genius has led him into still further trouble, a partial account of which was given to Alderman McMasters yesterday, he being summoned to William Moore's cell to hear the recital. William states in substance that he was being taken from the Court Room to the cell, after passing through his trial, when officer Mulvaney of the Mayor's police, struck him with a handy billy cutting his cheek open and knocking him down. Further, he alleges a companion, John Tetley, struck him with his fist, and when his wife, who witnessed the abuse of her husband, rushed in to save him, Tetley struck her. This is Williams' statement, which is embodied in three informations—one against Mulvany for felonious assault, and two against Tetley for aggravated assault and assault and battery on his wife. Warrants for the arrest of the accused were issued. Of course this is but one side of the story.

Improvements and their Consequences.

We understand that among the prominent and extensive improvements in fine buildings which of late are being made to adorn our city, Messrs. Oliver McClintock and Co., Carpet & Oil Cloth dealers, have begun and are pushing with energy such extensive additions to their warerooms as will when completed, make them the largest Carpet Salesrooms in the West. Owing to the confusion and want of room which the changes in progress have caused, they have determined upon selling at greatly reduced rates, a large portion of their carpets, consisting of Velvets and Wiltons, Body Brussels and Tapestry Brussels and a very fine stock of common Ingrain Carpets. Those in need should at least call and inspect the patterns and goods which the firm have said must be sold.

Croft & Phillips, Real Estate Agents, 139 Fourth Avenue.

Messrs. Croft & Phillips. the well known and enterprising real estate agents, No. 139 Fourth Avenue, make daily accessions to their extensive list of real estate for sale, and all those thinking of purchasing farms, lands or households, should not fail to favor them with a call. They have their business thoroughly systematized, and conduct all their operations in such a manner as to win the fullest confidence of those with whom they have dealing. In our advertising columns will be found a partial list of the real estate they offer for sale, and the reader will at once discover that it is no difficult matter to make a selection as the assortment is so large and varied. The Monthly Register, a neat book, of some proportions, contains an almost unlimited number of announcements of property held in hand and for sale by this firm. It is published monthly and gratuitously furnished to all who make application for it to the office. We cheerfully and earnestly commend Messrs. Croft and Phillps to our readers as business men worthy the largest share of confidence, being upright and fair dealing in all their transactions, and they consult the best interests of all who make them their agents for the purchase or sale of property.

At His Old Post Again.

It affords us unfeigned satisfaction to recognize once more in the centre of railroad operations in this city, the bland and genial countenance of our excellent friend F. R. Myers, Esq., and to see that he is at his old post again as General Ticket Agent of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway (P. R. R. lessee) and the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Railroad. We know it has been with great reluctance that these companies allowed Mr. Myers to give up the position for a time, although his place was ably filled by J. M. Kimball, Esq. We are glad to see that he has been induced to return. He has reduced the business of his department to a complete science, and as a General Ticket Agent has few equals, and certainly no superiors. He is besides a most worthy gentleman, and there could not be found one better qualified to discharge the duties, and administer the intricate details of the ticket departments of these large and flourishing corporations.

The Weather's Change.

The sudden change in the weather brings to mind very forcibly the fact of the fading away of summer and the return of the cool season. In connection with this comes another interesting fact which will be appreciated by all who are in need of winter wear, which is, that W. Hespenheide, No. 60 Sixth street is now prepared to furnish business suits, dress suits, overcoats for either fall or winter wear, at prices which cannot fail to suit the most limited purse. All the goods manufactured at this establishment are of the best quality and fit, and are not inferior articles palmed off for cheapness. The best hands, the best goods, and cheap prices are the attractions of this house. Mr. Hespenheide has now on hand a new and choice selection of goods just purchased for the season, and to which he invites the attention of all who need clothing. A call at the establishment will convince the most incredulous.

Party of Honor.

At the elegant residence of Dr. Daniel McMeal, on Grant street, on Thursday evening, a large party of gentlemen assembled by invitation, to pay parting honor to Rt. Rev. M. Domenec, who is about to visit Rome to attend the forthcoming Æcuminical Council. We have never before seen together so many distinguished gentlemen of all persuasions, and the zealous bishop must have felt the depth of the honor paid him. The host, Dr. McMeal, dispensed hospitalities in his proverbial good manner, and all present were highly delighted with the occasion. Bishop Domenec can congratulate himself on carrying with him on his journey the best wishes of a whole army of admirers in this community where he is so well known and appreciated.

Continental.

Mr. Holtzheimer, proprietor of the Continental, next door below the Post Office, Fifth avenue, makes it a cardinal principle in the management of his popular establishment to be always up to the times, whether in the fitting or furnishing of the Continental or the bill of fare with which his patrons are daily favored. As a result, the success which attends his efforts to please are in the highest degree satisfactory to all, both patrons and proprietor. The incredulous should visit the establishment and form an opinion from ocular demonstration.

The Keystone.

The Keystone Pottery, Messrs. Kier & Co. proprietors now one of our established institutions is daily turning out Queensware, which in strength and durability and beauty of finish will challenge comparison with any article in that line manufactured anywhere, whether manufactured in this country or imported. The immense trade which has been built in so short a time by this firm, testifies of the superior excellence of these manufactures more than words do. Housewives whose stock of table ware needs replenishing, should visit the ware rooms, No. 363 Liberty street, where a large assortment is keept constantly on hand.

A Pleasant Place.

The fields and woods are pleasant and very attractive under the influence of the genial weather we have been favored with the last few days, but no point of attraction, either in or out of the city, excels, in any degree, the clean, cheerful, bright "Continental," next door below the Postoffice, Fifth avenue, while the savory, delicious, appetizing, edibles which are prepared for its patrons lend it an additional attraction which nothing else could bring. Take a look in at the place.

Mechanical Drawing.—In addition to the usual and customary studies pursued at the IRON CITY COLLEGE, an EVENING CLASS in MECHANICAL DRAWING for young men and mechanics, taught by Mr. Francis L. Clark, an experienced and practical draughtsman, will be commenced in one of the College rooms, on Tuesday evening next. All necessary information may be obtained by calling at the office of the College, corner of Penn and Sixth (late St. Clair) street, or at the office of Mr. Clark, corner of Ninth (late Hand) and Liberty streets.

No tea-table is complete without some of Marvin's crackers. All varieties are manufactured, and as they are always fresh and very palatable, an agreeable substitute for musty, sour bread is thus furnished.

Marvin's crackers, Marvin's crackers, Marvin's crackers, at 91 Liberty Street, and at the grocery stores.

Party Refreshments.

It is a very nice and convenient thing to parties having company in large or small numbers to call in caterers who take upon themselves the entire responsibility of providing the entertainment. This branch of business is conducted in no better manner than by Messrs. Youngson & Co., corner of Diamond alley and Smithfield street, who deservedly enjoy a first class reputation as party caterers. They are prepared on the shortest notice to arrange for supper and refreshments at private or public parties and their charges are very reasonable. At their popular confectionery and ice cream rooms they are prepared to furnish cakes and general confectionery in the very best of style. We commend this house to the attention of our readers, knowing from experience that its proprietors are eminently worthy of public patronage and the fullest share of confidence.

Prevention is Better Than Cure.

The rapidly increasing sale, unprecedented popularity and benificent and lasting results of the Constitution Bitters, are alike subjects of comment and astonishment. Mild and certain in their action on the animal economy, prompt in operation, producing none of the ill effects incident to bitters generally vended. For the prevention and mitigation of sea-sickness they are pleasingly adapted. For counteracting the deleterious effects resulting from a change of water, and for irregular diet they are unsurpassed. They are the antidote for those derangements consequent upon the inhalations and surroundings of the pestiferous exhalations of miasma arising from the swamps, morasses and turbid waters of the west, which contain so large a percentage of putrescent and decaying animal and particularly vegetable substances. They are sold by all druggists.

A Meritorious Article.—We are tired of this idea of "puffing" humbug medicines that are constantly thrown into drug stores, and are merely an imposition upon community. But, when an article comes into the market that is really worthy of comment, we are happy to make public acknowledgment, trusting that some benefit may arise therefrom. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., is the proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and we take pleasure in calling attention to it because we know it to be a good article, and a sure cure for that loathsome disease Catarrh. It is sold by most Druggists, or may be obtained for Sixty Cents through the mail by addressing the proprietor as above.—Cleveland Herald.

[Extract from a letter from Jerusalem.]

"We started early to ascend Mt. Olivet, to behold the sun gild the minarets and towers of the devoted city, from the place where memory, stirred by a thousand associations, should exalt the mind as well as the eye to the inspiration of the scene. Well is the voyager repaid for long travels, horrid roads, antediluvian cookery, squalid companionship and the importunities of begging, thieving Arabs. Well would it have repaid you, oh! man of commerce and the crucible! and well might you have been reminded of your own city, for here, painted upon a board nailed against one of the huge ancient olive trees, under which the sacred martyrs toiled for the sins of the world, eighteen hundred years ago, were these familiar figures, S. T.—1860—X. We do not know who did it, but no doubt some poor invalid traveler, cured by the PLANTATION BITTERS, wished to advertise their virtues in a place from whence all knowledge flows."
